State Troopers Halt New Selma Protests

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators, growing impatient by the hour, tried twice Saturday to break through police lines.

They were turned back each time, although one small group slipped through and reached the courthouse before hurrying back behind the police blockade to avoid about 15 white youths who said they were waiting for them.

During the tense late afternoon, one Negro woman was taken by ambulance to a hospital. It was not known how she was hurt or by whom.

Demonstration leaders told city safety director Wilson Baker that President Johnson said they had a right to stage a march and that was what they were doing.

More than 1,000 demonstrators — white and black — were involved in the attempts to break through police lines. At one time the entire area in the midst of a Negro housing project was sealed off.

A throng of marchers once came face to face with club-carrying state troopers who stood guard across a wide street.

The troopers pushed them back.

About 50 white persons milled about an intersection and began yelling at the marchers. Troopers shoved back one white man who broke into the group of demonstrators.

The troopers used their clubs to shove the marchers back, but did not strike anyone.

"Well, President Johnson told us we could demonstrate, didn't he?" one marcher shouted.

Baker told leaders of the march that he feared trouble if they went downtown.

"I don't want you to take a chance," he said.

The first group of more than 1,000 marchers included Negroes and white ministers, nuns and students.

Policemen locked arms and blocked the marchers. Some of the demonstrators tried to push through. The officers held firm.

The massive demonstration ended when the swelling ranks of marchers retreated from police lines.

The objective was the courthouse where the demonstrators wanted to have a memorial service for the Rev. James J. Ray, a Boston minister fatally clubbed by a white gang here Tuesday night.

Minutes after the march started, leaflets from an airplane waited down on the tense scene. The leaflets appealed for funds for the four white men charged with Ray's slaying.

Gray skies shrouded the scene. It turned colder. In the darkening overcast a motorcycle policeman wore dark glasses.

Tension built anew in advance of the demonstration in this city where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has centered his massive Negro voter drive.

A street vigil in the Negro housing area where the march started had been going on four days.

Burch Assails Racism Issue In Election

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Outgoing Republican National Chairman Dean Burch said Saturday it is a slander on the candidate and the Republican party to assert that racism helped Barry Goldwater carry five Southern states.

Burch said in a speech prepared for a GOP rally in Baton Rouge, La., that if segregation was the basis for GOP Southern victories last November he would be among the first to hope they wouldn't be repeated.

He said Democrats and even some Republicans have contended that Republican success in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina could be attributed to "racism and bigotry" and was "strictly a one-time victory."

"But I reject that explanation," he said. "I reject it as an outright slander on Sen. Goldwater himself. I reject this explanation, too, as a slander on the whole Republican party, North and South."

The chairman, who will be succeeded on April 1 by Ray Bliss of Ohio, said he is satisfied the Republican break-through in the South is a permanent one.

He contended it was achieved because the voters were opposed to the "collectivist ideology" of the Democrats.

Will Use Troops If Needed: Johnson

Farm Leader Urges Trade With China

CHICAGO (AP) — President

James G. Patton of the National Farmers Union advocated Saturday unrestricted trade in farm products with Red China and other countries behind the Iron Curtain.

He was asked, at a news conference, if he is in favor of such trade.

"I am," he replied, noting that he was speaking for himself and not his organization.

"I think we should sell to China — to any country that has money to pay for them (commodities)."

He said food should be made available to Communist China — first food of the family feeding type through the Red Cross and then through recognition of China in the United Nations.

"Food should be put on a normal basis and not on a political basis," he commented.

A newsman asked: "Even while China is threatening us?"

He said he was thinking of the Chinese as people.

"They buy our stuff obliquely through third parties," he added. "Hong Kong is an open market."

Patton remarked that he did not know how far his organization, which places its membership at 750,000, will go at its convention. Formal session will start Monday.

Speaking for himself, he said the U.S. government now requires special licenses for cargoes sent to Iron Curtain lands.

The red tape, he added, causes private traders to "throw up their hands."

He spoke for general licenses to permit organizations and co-ops to trade and sell in a free way. He said standards of living are rising in Iron Curtain countries and they offer a good market.

Patton said there is a trend toward "internationalization" of agricultural trade, with one acre of each five now producing for such business.

He said there is a tremendous market opening up in Europe for beef and animal products.

"The great market of the future," he said, "is in the Pacific."

He said there is a need for an international commodity agreement to stabilize prices of raw materials.

Patton also said every efficient farm family should be assured an annual income of $5,000, with the difference — if any — between its income and that figure to come from the federal government.

He said he wants to maintain efficient family farms in this era when so much farm land is being consolidated.

He also said he endorses the United States Supreme Court ruling of "one man, one vote" apportionment of seats in state legislatures.

His organization has not taken a position on that subject.

CUBA HAS NEW SHIP

BILBAO, Spain (AP) — A crew of 24 Cuban seamen has arrived here to take over the cargo vessel, "El Jique," built for Cuba's Castro regime. The ship will be launched shortly, maritime officials added.

The proposal fell five votes short of the 39 needed for an emergency measure last week.

If the bill is passed without emergency effect, constables would be elected in April but not for normal four year terms.

Drafters of the bill say it provides that such April elections would be for terms expiring July 1.

Fencing of junk yards may be called for a vote in the Senate.

Secretary of State Paul Powell's program for stiffer driver license requirements for youths and for brighter license plates get their first test in the House Motor Vehicles Committee.

A State Teachers College Board spokesman is scheduled to appear before the House Education Committee to help it decide whether the state should spend about a million dollars for Carthage College.

A reapportionment conference between Republicans and Democrats may be near. The Senate is likely to pass the House bill the Senate amended last week. House Democrats will refuse to accept it as amended.

This will pave the way for selection of a conference committee.

Two differences between the parties are: Should Cook County districts be drawn so that some contain Chicago and suburban areas both? And should both houses be reapportioned in a single bill so that both would be subject to any veto by Kerner?

Disclose Negro Shot By Alabama Trooper

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Col. Albert J. Lingo, commander of Alabama's state troopers, disclosed in court Saturday that one of his officers shot a Negro laborer during a night march Feb. 18 at Marion, Ala. The Negro died eight days later.

Lingo's disclosure came while he was under questioning by a civil rights lawyer during a federal court hearing to determine if a Selma-to-Montgomery march may be staged.

The trooper commander had said he knew of no instance where Sheriff James G. Clark's posse of special deputies used brutality on Negroes.

Lingo also testified he did not want tear gas used to break up an attempted march from Selma last Sunday but that even so he permitted use of the gas.

Attorney Fred Gray, a Civil Rights lawyer, asked: "Do you know of any instance where a state trooper shot a Negro at Marion?"

"Yes, and I made an investigation immediately," Lingo said.

He did not identify the trooper. Nor was he asked to do so. The Negro, Jimmie Lee Jackson, was shot in the abdomen during the demonstration in Marion.

He said before he died that he was shot by a trooper. Lingo also disclosed that nausea and smoke bombs were used with the tear gas last Sunday.

Lingo told the court earlier that he left the decision on using tear gas to the senior uniformed officers of his trooper force when about 650 Negroes marched Sunday.

Troopers broke up the march by clubbing and tear-gassing the Negroes.

Lingo said no force was used to stop a march by about 2,500 demonstrators two days later.

Lingo agreed with the judge, who asked: "This march on Tuesday was more or less a play of what had been agreed on?"

Johnson's question was prompted by a statement from Lingo earlier that he had agreed to permit the Tuesday march, led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., to proceed to the point where Sunday's march was halted. Lingo said the agreement called for the marchers to turn back after they sang and prayed.

Lingo said the pact was worked out with LeRoy Collins, director of the federal community relations service. He said that Gov. George C. Wallace had a part in deciding where Sunday's march would be stopped.

The judge had asked why no attempt was made to stop the march before it left the city. Lingo said the governor wanted the confrontation to take place on the highway because of the danger of interference from white persons in Selma.

Lingo tried to get into the record evidence that the troopers met some resistance from the marching Negroes, but it was ruled out.

He said, however, that about a month ago he asked Clark to "screen" his force of auxiliary or part-time deputies because he did not like the way some of them looked and talked.

"I felt like there were some who probably would shoot somebody," said the trooper commander. He said Clark complied with the request.

Civil rights lawyers earlier in the day had completed their attempt to show that brutality and excessive force were used to stampede the civil rights march Sunday.

The state, defendant in the federal suit filed by civil rights attorneys and joined by the Justice Department, began at once to try to show that the use of tear gas and billy clubs by troopers and sheriff's deputies was necessary.

A Negro dishwasher, John Carter Lewis, 38, said he suffered severe head injuries and a broken arm when beaten to the ground the night of the march. He said this occurred while other Negroes were beaten by state police breaking up the march a quarter-mile away.

Lewis said a state trooper stopped his car and he explained to the officer that he was taking a friend home from work.

Another trooper arrived and was told by the first officer that Lewis was "a pretty good guy." Lewis testified, but the second trooper said: "Let's beat him up anyway."

Lewis' testimony continued: "He hit me on the head. I staggered and he hit me again. I dropped my billfold on the road. I bent over to try to pick up the billfold and then he hit me again. And then when I tried another time to pick up the billfold, he hit me again."

An FBI agent in Selma, Robert L. Frye, testified that the demonstrations were a problem for law enforcement in Selma.

He said the marchers kept police tied up and away from other duties and that they have created a dangerous situation.

Another FBI agent testified Friday that he thought state troopers acted in the public interest by breaking up the march with tear gas.

A state highway engineer testified in defense of the state contention that a highway march from Selma to Montgomery would be too dangerous for a large group.

Arthur P. Villadsen said there were several bridges on which marchers would have to walk in traffic lanes. He said a traffic count showed that 10,000 cars use the stretch of highway daily.

Wallace, President Confer

WASHINGTON (AP) —

President Johnson promised Saturday to use "all the resources of this great and powerful government" — even federal troops, if necessary — to achieve victory in what he termed the civil rights "battle of human dignity."

The President also announced he will send to Congress on Monday a special message proposing legislation which he said would strike down all "discriminatory restrictions used to deny people the right to vote."

Johnson voiced his pledge to achieve civil rights victory in an opening statement at a chilly rose garden news conference which, almost at the last minute, was opened to live television cameras and radio microphones.

The President, who had wound up a 34-hour conference with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace shortly before, expressed support for peaceful demonstrations in Selma, Ala., and in fact, on the street in front of the White House — by people who feel voting rights are being denied.

The chief executive began by terming this a time of "very deep and painful challenge to the unending search for American freedom."

He said that before the challenge is ended, "every resource of this government will be directed to insuring justice for all men of all races, in Alabama and everywhere in this land."

Asked if he had alerted federal troops for possible peace-keeping duty in Alabama, he said he knew that FBI agents, federal marshals and Army units all were ready to carry out any order he might find necessary to issue.

Johnson, taking his news conference outdoors to the White House rose garden, said "The offense of last Sunday cannot and will not be repeated."

Johnson said that last Sunday Alabama Negroes tried to make a peaceful protest for their right to vote.

"They were attacked and brutally beaten," he said.

The President said the government had tried to protect the Negroes' constitutional rights wherever they were violated.

He said more than 70 U. S. officials were in Selma to enforce the law.

"At all times the force of the United States has been available to protect the peace of the citizens of Selma," he said.

Johnson referred to the constitutional amendment 95 years ago designed to assure voting rights to all, but said now many Americans are denied the right to vote because they are Negroes.

Johnson said he will send to Congress on Monday a bill to strike down all restrictions used to deny the right to vote. He (Continued On Page Nine)

Viet Cong Probe Marine Positions

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — A dozen Viet Cong guerrillas snaked through the underbrush Friday night and early Saturday, trying to probe U.S. Marine positions.

Three times they tried to probe a finger at the base of Hill 327, which dominates Da Nang air base. Each time they were met with a storm of mortar and machine-gun fire and withdrew.

"I'll bet they wondered how we knew they were out there," a smiling machine gunner said.

The reason the Marines knew the Viet Cong were there is a radar device that can pinpoint guerrillas anywhere. It is a miniature version of the dish-type radar common atop airport control towers.

"It's beautiful, just beautiful," a platoon leader exulted after the radar had passed its first combat tests.

The Viet Cong conducted themselves in a trained military manner, the radar showed, but they were foiled by modern technology.

A daylight patrol failed to find any Viet Cong bodies, blood trails or any other signs.

Capt. H.J. Morgan, 30, a father of four from Colorado Springs, Colo., said the Viet Cong probe was made by what appeared to be a well-trained outfit. He said observation of pips on the radar scope disclosed activities much the same as American reconnaissance would make in similar circumstances.

Among other places in the Da Nang perimeter the radar machines, slightly shorter than the average man, are dotted around Hill 327 — the tall hill that the Marines call the Hungry I.

Kerr, Meyerson Withdraw Their Resignations

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) —

University of California President Clark Kerr and Acting Chancellor Martin Meyerson late Saturday withdrew their resignations after a five-hour closed meeting with the board of regents.

They had announced their resignations last Tuesday after a six-month-long uproar on the university's Berkeley campus over student political activity.

The president of the far-flung university announced at the close of the extraordinary meeting of the regents, "After discussion with the board, Acting Chancellor Meyerson and I have decided to withdraw our resignations pending further discussion with the board."

Kerr said disciplinary proceedings against three students involved in the "regrettable obscene behavior" on the Berkeley campus.

PASSENGERS WATCH AS YOUTH ON SUBWAY

NEW YORK (AP) — While

other passengers watched in terror, two young Negroes slashed to death a 17-year-old white youth on a Brooklyn subway Friday night.

Police said an autopsy showed the victim, Andrew A. Mormile of Brooklyn, had six knife wounds on his head.

At least 10 persons were in the first car of the train, where the attack occurred, detectives said, but apparently no one went to the youth's aid.

Police sent out an arrest order for two Negroes, one described as about 24 years old, six feet two, and the other about 21 and five feet nine.

They were with another Negro man and three Negro girls who earlier ran through the 10-car train, harassing and insulting the several hundred passengers.

When they got into the first car, where Mormile was dozing, police said, two of the men demanded cigarettes of him. The youth was slain in an argument that followed.

Family Potluck Held By Bluffs Woman's Group

BLUFFS — The Bluffs Woman's Club held their annual "family night" meeting Tuesday evening in Fellowship Hall of the Bluffs Methodist Church. A potluck supper was served to members and their guests.

Mrs. William Chambers welcomed the guests. Roll call was answered by introducing the guests.

Mrs. Oliver Chambers and Mrs. Floyd Hart were in charge of the special music and presented Ronald Gilman who sang "I Left My Heart In San Francisco" and "His Hands" accompanied by Mrs. Wendell Brackett.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer were given and approved. The district convention will be held in Winchester on April 12.

If there are to be any changes in the by-laws for the coming year they should be presented to the committee before the next meeting. The members were reminded of the Band Boosters Carnival on March 20. The April meeting will be a flower or bulb exchange. The business session was closed with the reading of the club collect and a group of songs.

Mrs. Harvey Vortman introduced John Allen, who showed slides of a trip to Russia and other points in Europe taken last spring. He described his travels with a group of lumber dealers who were particularly interested in business and construction work being done in that part of the world.

The hostesses were Mrs. Guss Andres, Mrs. Donald Merris, Mrs. Clyde Arnold and Mrs. Martha Ridgway.

Guests present included Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. Gertrude Allen, Mrs. Merle Korty, Mrs. Bernice Fuson, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Dunham, Floyd Hierman, Herbert Boes, Clarence Nortrup, Clyde Williams, James Baird, William Chambers, Oliver Chambers, Hayden Walker, Harvey Vortman, Marjorie Kroencke, Claus Kroencke, J. A. Knoepfel, I. D. Mueller, Ronald Gilman and Floyd Hart.

Cadettes Celebrate Girl Scout Week

Ninety two Cadette Girl Scouts and their families attended a family potluck supper at Johnathan Turner Jr. High School on March 9th. Two troops from Jacksonville, one troop from Virginia and one troop from Roodhouse participated in the event. Cadette Scouts are girls in the 7th, 8th and 9th grades.

Each troop gave a report of its activities, service projects, campouts, parties and money making activities. Troop 23, leaders Mrs. Robert Harp and Mrs. Robert Reeve, presented a camping skit. Mrs. Roy Burris' troop from Roodhouse put on a short play on citizenship. Virginia's Cadette troop, led by Mrs. D. K. Taylor demonstrated what a babysitter should know. Troop 32 of Jacksonville presented a skit showing that Girl Scouts are prepared and concerned about emergencies. Their leader is Mrs. A. W. Applebee. Following the program all present joined hands to sing Taps and give the traditional Girl Scout friendship squeeze.

The event was sponsored by Troop 32. Judy Brubaker was mistress of ceremonies. Song leaders were Cheryl Koolker, Diane Waggener and Debra Prewitz. Joyce Cline played the piano.

Fifty three years ago Girl Scouting was founded in America. Today there are 163,000 troops. All members of Girl Scouts make this promise, "On my honor, I will try: to do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times, to obey the Girl Scout Laws."

NAVY TEAM TO RECRUIT MEN ON IC CAMPUS

A Navy Officer Information Team will be on campus at Illinois College from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on March 15-16. The team will interview persons interested in the opportunities offered through Navy Officer Programs.

Applications are being sought from juniors and seniors for officer training after graduation in the following fields: Aviation (Pilot and non-pilot), Air Intelligence, General Line, Supply Corps, Civil Engineer Corps and other specialized and professional fields. Applications are also desired for WAVE officer training and for the Navy Nurse Corps. In addition to meeting technical requirements, the training given emphasizes leadership, management and administrative techniques.

A former Jacksonville girl, Pamela Wolke, 17, is pictured with television star Ed Nelson, who appears in the Peyton Place series, when both attended the Feb. 23rd installation banquet for Pacoima, Calif. Chamber of Commerce at the Sportsman Lodge at Encino.

Pamela is the daughter of the Bruce Wolkes of Pacoima. She is the current Miss Pacoima and in that capacity attends at official Chamber functions. She recently signed a contract with the Jimmy Lloyd Productions in Hollywood for TV commercials. She will compete in the Miss San Fernando Valley Beauty Pageant May 23rd at the Knollwood Country Club, Granada Hills, Calif.

Miss Wolke is the great granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Story of Greenfield and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Story, Van Nuys, Calif. She has a number of relatives in the Jacksonville area.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapters

Gamma and Xi Alpha Upsilon chapters recently met at the home of Harriett Brasel. Wilma Simmons was co-hostess.

President Lilo Sullivan opened the meeting with the ritual. A communication was read from Dr. Kenneth Mangan, Superintendent of the Illinois School for the Deaf, thanks for the student ticket for the Jacksonville MacMurray Music Series. A thank-you was read from Mrs. Marian Schaeffer, social sponsor.

New officers elected for the ensuing year are:

Gamma chapter, president, Lois Winders; vice-president, Mary Adams; record secretary, Mabel Simmons and city council, Lois Winders, Lilo Sullivan, Italeene Summers, alternate.

Xi Alpha Upsilon, president, Helen Vieira; vice-president, LaVerne Boruff; record secretary, Marian May; correspondent secretary, Wilma Simmons; treasurer, Dorothy Crabtree; historian, Verna Butcher and city council, Helen Vieira, Ruth Wade, Naomi Woods, alternate.

Elma Savage introduced Mrs. Gertrude Beggs, local civic leader, who gave an interesting talk on "Exploration of the Pacific." Mrs. Beggs read interesting excerpts from the book "The Golden Haze" by Rodrick Cameron.

Members please notice the next meeting place has been changed and will be held at the home of Mary Margaret Wilhee on March 22.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

SOCIAL STUDIES CLASSES TOUR TATE HOSPITAL

MEREDOSIA — Sociology and economics classes of Meredosia-Chambersburg High School visited Jacksonville State Hospital March 3.

The group toured the kitchen, laundry, gymnasium, clothing store, one of the dining rooms and a ward.

Fedorenko, Russian Bear At U.N., Wears A Smile But He Can Bite

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — When Nikolai T. Fedorenko eased his well-tailored frame into the Soviet seat vacated by crusty Valerian Zorin two years ago, U.N. delegates hoped the ice would start melting.

This seemed to be a new kind of Russian. His ready smile, modish clothes and soft-sell approach were a far cry from the stone-faced types in bell-bottom trousers who had been speaking for the Kremlin.

Delegates began talking about the "Fedorenko style" and recalling his background as professor of Chinese philosophy and author of learned treatises on Mandarin culture. It all seemed comfortably remote from the cold war.

Today the wavy-haired, 53-year-old Russian with the jaunty bow tie is the storm center of a money quarrel that has paralyzed the General Assembly and could bankrupt the United Nations. It has threatened to bring on a U.S.-Soviet showdown over U.N. peacekeeping dues, and has reduced nearly everyone but Fedorenko to a state of jitter.

Fedorenko has amiably discussed the assessments dealt with a series of would-be mediators. But each attempt at compromise has collapsed. Fedorenko blandly refuses to commit the Soviet government to pay any set amount on any date for the Congo and Middle East operations, both of which the Russians have branded as illegal. Delegates now have begun recalling the shadowy role Fedorenko played in his previous post as ambassador to Japan.

The scholar-diplomat went to Tokyo in 1958 at a time when many in the Far East considered Japan the No. 1 Communist target in the area. This was a period when Washington was anxious to button up a mutual defense treaty with Tokyo. Then came the bitter 1960 left-wing riots against the pact. Although the treaty was signed, the demonstrations forced the cancellation of a visit to Japan planned by President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Some diplomats in Tokyo saw Fedorenko's hand in the anti-American demonstrations.

U.N. delegates no longer look on Fedorenko as a harbinger of good will. But they respect him as a topflight diplomat, a shrewd negotiator and a far easier person to bargain with than representatives of the Stalin school.

"I've sometimes suspected he was a rather nasty chap at heart, but I rely enjoy matching wits with him," said a Commonwealth diplomat.

"He may be tricky, but he's damned clever, and I wish he was on our side," muttered one Western representative.

As a host, Fedorenko cuts an imposing figure in his diplomat's dress uniform of blue and gold with gingerbread epaulettes. Invitations to Soviet mission parties are prized and guests find the conversation as stimulating as the champagne, caviar and other delicacies.

Fedorenko carries out his U.N. assignment with zeal and unbounded energy. He usually arrives at headquarters a good half-hour before an assembly session and can be found conferring in the corridors long after it ends.

On a recent assembly day, he paused eight times walking from the lounge entrance to the delegates coffee shop 50 yards away. At each halt he greeted fellow envoys, including Ambassador Roger Seydoux of France which is also delinquent in its peacekeeping dues.

These capsule meetings ranged from jocular exchanges to serious conversations. Fedorenko usually broke them off with a firm handclasp and an earnest nod.

In the coffee shop, he strode quickly to a large table ringed by a dozen or so envoys from Iron Curtain lands. At this point Fedorenko's background as a teacher came to the fore. Without ado, he launched into what appeared to be a briefing on events to come up that day. Pausing only to gesture with his long, sensitive hands, or puff on his cigar, the Moscow delegation chief spoke for about 20 minutes. His listeners sat in silence.

The talk ended as suddenly as it began. Fedorenko reached for his briefcase, and a gray-haired man sitting on his left made a curt gesture. In unison, the group stood up and began filing from the room.

Soviet diplomats were never a gregarious lot away from their homeland. At the United Nations they sealed themselves off from New York's social life, keeping close to their mission and the spacious estate they own on Long Island's North Shore.

Fedorenko, however, has managed to keep up with the arts. On some occasions he has attended exhibits of paintings, and he has shown an interest in the opera.

Leslie Bakers Of Near Pittsfield To Mark Date

PITTSFIELD — The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie H. Baker will be observed with an open house at the family home southeast of Pittsfield Sunday, March 21.

Friends and relatives may call from 2-5 and 7-9 p.m. The couple requests that anniversary gifts be omitted.

Leslie Baker and Mary A. Powell, both of Perry, were married March 18, 1915 at the Pittsfield Christian church. Reverend David N. Wetzel performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker are the parents of four children: Leslie Jr., Paul and Mrs. Evelyn Ward, all of rural Pittsfield and Mrs. Kathryn Stephenson of Jacksonville. There are eight grandchildren.

KAREN BARROW, RICHARD HEBERLING WED AT WHITE HALL

WHITE HALL — Miss Karen Sue Barrow and Richard Gail Heberling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Heberling, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, March 6. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Norman Ward at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barrow of White Hall.

Attending the couple were Beverly Jean Barrow, sister of the bride, and Delbert Heberling, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride chose for her wedding a white suit. Her attendant wore a red suit.

Mrs. Barrow was in a blue suit and the bridegroom's mother chose a blue dress and hat. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony.

The newlyweds are at home in Alton where Mr. Heberling is employed by the Laclede Steel Co.

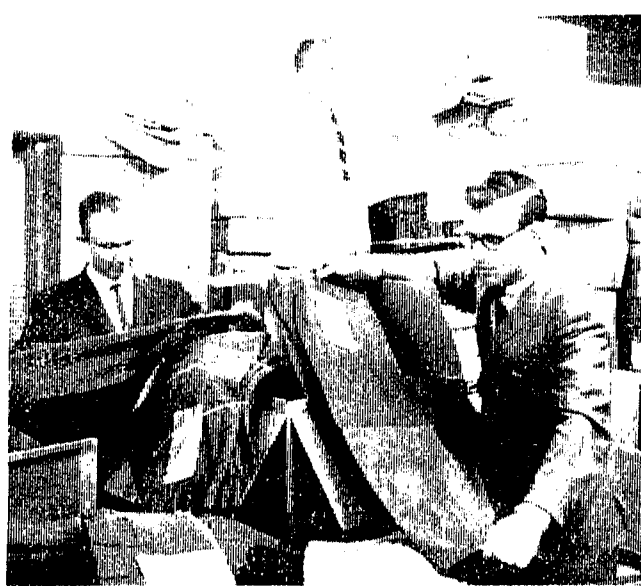

Quick breads are usually difficult to cut thin when they are sliced shortly after baking. Overnight storage in a tightly covered container will make cutting easy.

CMDR. SKINNER AIDS IN RESCUE OFF EAST COAST

LAKEHURST, N.J. (FHTNC) — Navy Commander Glenn E. Skinner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Skinner, Sr., of 1621 Hardin Ave., and husband of the former Miss Evelyn Chambers of Naples, was the co-pilot of a Navy helicopter that participated in search and rescue operations Feb. 8 following the crash of an Eastern Airlines DC-17 aircraft, shortly after it took off from Kennedy Airport.

Operating from Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., several Navy helicopters responded to an assistance request from the Coast Guard Rescue Coordination Center in New York City. Air operations were halted the following morning after it was determined there were no survivors.

Pilots and aircrewmembers, members of Helicopter Utility Squadron Two, flew more than 16 hours in the air search.

Before entering the service in May 1943, Commander Skinner graduated from Illinois College.

READ THE ADSApprove Brown Co.
For Special Pasture Renovation Program

Everett H. Wort, chairman of the Brown County ASC committee, announced that Brown County was selected by the Illinois Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee and approved by U.S.D.A. in Washington to receive $100,000 to carry out a special pasture program in 1965.

Along with the pasture development proper, there will be modest work in removing brush and the construction of related ponds and protective devices, for the area being treated.

"The problem as set forth above is very definitely recognized not only by the farm leaders of Brown County, but by the leaders of business and com-that might be taken to help rejuvenate an entirely rural and comparatively poor county," Wort said.

"The local people have set up an RAD committee and a Natural Resources committee. They are sincerely concerned with the direction in which the county is going, and they have given much study (without much accomplishment) to this matter."

An endeavor shall be made to induce as many farmers in the county as possible to undertake some pasture development work. Large approvals will not be made under this special program where it is obvious that the owner is engaged in speculation, or is of sufficient means to carry out the needed project work either with his own finances or with the help of regular ACP.

Some endeavor is to be made to select a smaller area and to concentrate efforts therein so that there might be one community where practically all farmers would have small acreage of improved pasture. This would provide a concentrated mass demonstration of accomplishment.

Funds for this project come from the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP). The Illinois State Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization committee were authorized both in 1964 and 1965 to select three counties for special conservation projects of this nature.

Increased rates will apply for improving pasture under this special program. All farmers in the county will receive a letter this week explaining the details more fully. The concentrated sign-up will be from March 15 through March 26 and will continue as long as funds are available.

Install Officers At Meeting Of Meredosia Club

MEREDOSIA — Officers of the Meredosia Woman's club were installed during a meeting held recently in the home economics room at Meredosia High School.

The officers, installed by Mrs. John Nortrup and Mrs. Mabel Likes, are: Mrs. Virgil Steinberg, president; Mrs. E. F. Hobson, vice-president; Mrs. Bernice Edlen, recording secretary; Mrs. Alpha Ommen, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Leon Knight, treasurer.

Mrs. Robert Lansink, retiring recording secretary, was presented with a gift.

Name Hostesses
Hostesses for the coming year were selected with Mrs. Lee Tubbs, Mrs. Alpha Ommen, Mrs. Elizabeth Standley and Mrs. Allen B. Chrisman named as April hostesses.

A musical program was presented by the Meredosia High School Concert Band, under the direction of Ronald Smith, school music instructor.

Proposed Youth Center
Mrs. Virgil Steinberg conducted the business session. Clarence Birdsell, proprietor of the local Candy Land store, was present to discuss the organization of a community youth center and offered the use of his building as a meeting place.

Mrs. Joseph Schneider led the group in prayer and the pledge to the flag. Twenty-one members were present.

To Music Camp
It was announced that Reba Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clark, has been chosen to attend music camp at Western Illinois University this summer.

Mrs. Allen B. Chrisman, Mrs. Wilbur Kunzeman and Mrs. Robert Lansink were appointed to the May Banquet committee.

MEREDOSIA CLUB
PLANS TRIP TO STATE MUSEUM

MEREDOSIA — The Meredosia Garden Club met March 8 at Meredosia High School with Mrs. William Carl presiding.

The members voted to visit the state museum in Springfield on April 10 in lieu of the regular meeting.

Mrs. Carl read hints on selecting and transplanting plants and useful gardening suggestions and Mrs. Bertha Rice presented a paper on planting trees. The following committees were appointed: cards, Mrs. Oscar Nortrup; flowers, Mrs. Pearl Copenhaver and Mrs. Roy Girard; publicity, Mrs. Bertha Rice.

Mrs. Virgil Steinberg and Mrs. Bertha Rice served assorted sandwiches, potato chips, candy and coffee.

May hostesses will be Mrs. Copenhaver and Mrs. Girard. Celebrates Birthday
Mrs. Mitchell Smith of Meredosia was guest of honor at a birthday dinner given for her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lewis, Linda, Donna, Ronnie and Jeffrey at Quincy.

A large decorated cake centered the serving table. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Scott, Kenneth Jr., Andy, Julie and Aaron; Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Smith, Claudia, Cathy and Ed; Mr. and Mrs. Andy McDannald, Shirley and Keith Black.

ARENZVILLE GROUP ATTENDS DEANERY MEETING IN CASS

ARENZVILLE — Members of the St. Fidelis Catholic Church of Arenzville who attended the Jacksonville Deanery spring meeting of the D.C.C.W. on Wednesday at the St. Alexis Catholic parish hall in Beardstown were Mrs. Mildred Kolber, Mrs. Katie Lutkehus, Mrs. Olga Dober, Mrs. Myrtle Zillion, and Miss Anna Herbert.

Arenzville Locals
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nikolai of University City, Mo. are the parents of a daughter born March 3, weighing 7 lbs., 2 oz. The new baby is the Nikolai's third daughter, and has been named Margaret Clare. Mrs. Nikolai is the former Susan Shannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shannon of Arenzville. Mrs. Shannon spent several days at the Nikolai home, returning to Arenzville on Tuesday.

Miss Donna Robenstein of Eureka spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Nelson. On Sunday afternoon the Nelsons and their guest visited at Pearl with Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Nelson.

RHS
The members of the Junior class wrote the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test last Tuesday morning, March 3.

In 1963, at the time the Girl Scout program was updated to meet today's challenges and interests, senior Girl Scout Troop 9 was born. It consisted of High School girls, and today there are 17 sophomores from Routt and Jacksonville High Schools with Mrs. K. Lyle Davis as Advisor.

Under the new program the girls are challenged to evaluate and use wisely the "indispensables" which consist of time, energies, talents and imagination, among other things. They are challenged to develop special interests, and Troop 9 has chosen "Panorama," a fund raising project developed by the National Girl Scout office. Challenges for community service are constantly presented to the girls and accepted by them in the form of hospital and nursing home volunteers; office assistants at the Chamber of Commerce and local Girl Scout office; and providing needy families with pumpkin pies at Thanksgiving.

Religious Theme
Six of the girls have chosen religious awards on which to concentrate their efforts, and three have earned the Marion award.

Goal Switzerland
The Girl Scout International Roundup is in Idaho this summer and Jan Bradish has been selected as one of the delegates to attend. The girls also have the goal of "Switzerland in 1966" when they hope to be represented at "Our Chalet" maintained for international Girl Scout work. These opportunities for representation at national and international meetings of fellowship and learning require many fund raising projects and the girls work energetically in the sale of many items, such as cookies, Christmas trees, toothbrushes and candy bars; planning of teenage dances, and planning card parties. Every effort is made to prevent disruption of school work and activities, and the troop acknowledges with deep gratitude the cooperation of mothers, newspapers, radio stations, and community in eventually making their goals possible.

DR. SANCHEZ ADDRESSES CWF AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN

Dr. Reinaldo Sanchez, native of Cuba and professor of Spanish at Illinois College, was speaker at a meeting March 10 of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the Central Christian church.

Mrs. Steven Hills, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Dr. Sanchez spoke on The Church in Cuba, relating some of his personal experiences in Cuba before and after Castro, noting too that Cuba was Roman Catholic country until 1902 when the Christian missionaries came to Cuba. Dr. Sanchez came to the states in 1962 with his son. His wife and two daughters were permitted to join him later. Mrs. Sanchez and daughters, Roxey and Becky, were guests at the meeting.

Mrs. John Watson, president, presided. Mrs. Bettie Doolin was in charge of devotions and presented Tommie Davis, Bettie Doolin, Lola Hickey, Eloise Plouer, Lorene Ray and Lois Rust who sang My Wonderful Lord and His Love, accompanied by Katherine Ray.

Delicious refreshments in keeping with St. Patrick's Day were served by the Thompson-Newbery group.

If you use creamstyle cottage cheese as the filling for cheese blintzes, you may want to add an egg yolk or two to the cheese.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the potluck supper includes Edna Cloninger, Mary Rousey and Mrs. Lela Hester.

Schedule RNA Party

The local Royal Neighbors of America will meet Monday, March 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the I.O.O.F. Hall.

The regular business meeting will be followed by a St. Patrick's Day party.

On the committee in charge are Miss Jill Frank, Mrs. Susie Pile and Mrs. Julia Brown.

School Board Meeting

The regular meeting of the Board of Education of Community District 1 was held in the board office.

M. W. Kehart, superintendent, reported on finances saying that the state legislature may allow the board to levy an eight cent tax next year for transportation purposes instead of the present two cent tax. This would mean approximately $16,000 from taxes for transportation purposes instead of the $4,000 which has been received in the past. At the present time it is necessary to transfer $16,000 from the educational fund to make up the deficit in the transportation fund.

L. Allan Watt, board attorney, was present and read the resolution for the annual school election to be held April 10. The resolution was adopted. The election will be held from noon to 7 p.m. and the polling places and judges are as follows: Precinct No. 1, Manchester School building, Emory Funk, Clayton Hudson and Mary Ruth Spradlin, judges; Precinct No. 2, Alsey School building, Blanche Wallace, Ollie Carriager and Cecile Northrup, judges; Precinct No. 3, Scott County Courthouse, Louise Hieronymous, Lela King and Clara Little, judges.

Mr. Kehart was instructed to send a questionnaire to parents of kindergarten age children, to obtain information as to the number of parents who might be interested in a six weeks summer session of kindergarten.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—The market for slaughter steers this week closed strong to 25 cents a hundredweight higher after a good advance on Friday when a small supply met a fairly active demand.

Prime grade that day brought $26.25, highest of the week, with offerings rather scarce.

Buyers noted, however, that prices have varied only slightly over the past three months. The average cost of all grades has held within a 40-cent range during that time. For the week, they averaged about $23.50 compared with $21.55 a year ago.

Butcher hogs were steady to 25 cents higher for the week but they failed to recover the broad declines of the previous week. In late trading, the practical top for 100-225 lb mixed No. 1 and 2 grades held at $17.75 although some sorted lots brought $18.15 on Friday, the top for the week.

Offerings on the sheep market were somewhat more liberal than a week ago but prices for woolled slaughter lambs held steady.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Blue chip leadership returned to the stock market late last week and the result was that stocks posted a net gain.

Prominence of lower-priced issues of doubtful quality had raised some eyebrows on Wall Street recently but these issues faded in the last couple of sessions and stocks rose on a solid basis.

As the week ended, the Dow Jones industrial average once more stood above the significant 900 level it has been a couple of times before. The question was how long the average would stay there this time, and whether it would progress much further beyond that line that it did before.

The Dow industrials this week rose 4.35 to 900.33. Volume this week was 27,789,990 shares compared with 32,088,770 the previous week.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week advanced 1.0 to 336.1.

It was an eventful week in the financial markets, but not so much because of what was going on with stocks on the New York Stock Exchange. Thinking was dominated much of the week by the huge issue of General Aniline & Film, whose 11,116,438 shares were bid for by competing syndicates. The fate of General Aniline had been pending ever since World War II and it distracted much attention from the big board.

It was finally offered to the public at $30.60 a share on Tuesday.

The stock sold over the counter at a premium of 2 or 3 points, then began to wilt late in the week as interest returned to stocks traded on the stock exchange.

Big board stocks came to life on Thursday with a rally paced by auto stocks which were inspired by a prominently published article touting how Detroit was piloting one record on another in the auto industry. Nine million car sales were predicted for 1965.

Autos were joined on Friday by the major steel shares as reports from the labor bargaining sessions indicated that progress was being made and gave Wall Street hope that a strike could be averted before the May 1 deadline.

U.S. treasury bond prices advanced last week. Prices also edged upward in the tax-exempt and corporate bond markets.

On the New York Stock Exchange bond volume for the week totaled a par value of $55,054 million, compared to $66,483 million the previous week.

PITTSFIELD Community Sale

PITTSFIELD, ILL.

Discussion was held regarding conversion to gas of the Winchester High School heating system, if the city could give assurance that enough gas would be available in the future.

The bid of the Continental Oil Company was accepted for supplying gasoline to school buses during the 1965-66 school year. The Anders Gulf Station bid for tire service for the coming year was accepted. The bid of William Moss, for supplying coal to Alsey and Manchester schools and Winchester High School, was accepted.

It was decided that bids on two bus bodies and two bus chassis be requested and the bids are to be opened at the April board meeting.

Mr. Kehart presented orders for science supplies and equipment, under the N.D.E.A. Science Program, and explained that the board would receive federal reimbursement for approximately fifty percent of the cost of the project.

The Board approved and accepted the projects as drawn by the schools and authorized Mr. Kehart to file claim and act as representative of the board in connection with this program.

Mr. Kehart reported that Heliwell Ford Sales would like to furnish a car for driver training classes at Winchester High School next year and the offer was accepted by the board.

Plans were made for a group to attend the Two Rivers Division meeting of the Illinois Association of School Boards March 23 in Beardstown.

Johnson Will Use Troops If Necessary

said it would set up simple standards for voting. If citizens are denied the right to vote, he said they will be registered by federal officials.

This was in line with efforts of Republicans and Democrats in Congress to work out legislation which would supersede state laws used to discriminate against Negroes.

It is wrong to deny Americans their right to vote, Johnson said, adding it is wrong to deny any person full equality because of the color of his skin.

Nor shall the voter be judged by his religion, where he was born, or his neighborhood, Johnson went on.

Johnson said the final answer to the problem of voting rights will not be found in armed confrontation but in the process of law.

"Your government, at my direction, asked the federal court in Alabama to ask officials in Alabama not to interfere with the constitutional rights of American citizens," he said.

Johnson said he met with Wallace to discuss thoroughly the situation in Alabama.

He said Wallace expressed concern that disturbances were a threat to the people of Alabama. Johnson said he himself expressed concern about the grievances — that Negroes in Alabama who had been denied voting rights should have opportunity to call attention to their plight.

"I understand their concern," Johnson said.

"I advised the governor of my intention to press with all the vigor at my command to assure that every citizen of this country is given the right to participate in his government at every level through the complete voting process," Johnson said.

The governor in turn expressed interest in law and order, the President added.

He said he told Wallace, "The brutality in Selma last Sunday must not be repeated."

Johnson quoted Wallace as saying he knew of the affair and regretted any situation in which an American citizen met violence.

Johnson said he had urged Wallace publicly to declare his support for universal suffrage in Alabama, and for the right of peaceful assembly.

Le proposed also that Wallace call a biracial meeting to discuss the situation in his state.

The President indicated he would ask Congress for legislation which would provide for registration of all citizens not only in national but in local elections. This latter provision has met some strong opposition in Congress in the past.

Asked whether Wallace had indicated any degree of acceptance of his suggestions, the President said he would let Wallace speak for himself — that he understood the governor was to make an appearance Sunday.

Car Damaged Late Saturday

Police late Saturday night were searching for the occupants of a 1958 Chevrolet that struck the west end of the East Street bridge over Mauvaister Creek.

Officers were called to the scene shortly after eleven o'clock on a report that there were several injured persons at the scene.

Upon arriving at the accident area, police were unable to locate any of the persons believed to have been involved.

The car, which was apparently eastbound, struck the north side of the bridge. The car was extensively damaged.

Sweet Sixteen Field Strong, Select Group

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's a swinging "Sweet Sixteen" field for the Illinois High School basketball championship this year and if the records are any indication, the finals should provide enough thrills for everyone.

Every one of the teams has at least 20 victories and only Chicago Marshall has as many as eight losses.

Thornton, the No. 1 team in the state, defending champion Pekin and powerful Freeport have tasted defeat but once this season. While Moline, Collinsville and Decatur have lost only twice.

The first round which will be played at eight centers Tuesday could provide some of the best action in the tournament. Lockport Central (26-3) goes against Pekin (28-1) at Peoria.

Although Lockport lost to Pekin earlier in the season, the Porks are tough. One of their other two losses was to Thornton.

Tight Battle Expected
The game between Freeport (26-1) and Moline (24-2) at Moline pits a couple of teams who have high hopes for the title. Freeport is aiming for a fourth title, a feat accomplished by only Decatur and Mount Vernon, both in the running this year.

A close battle is expected at Evanston where Marshall (20-6) pits its speed against deliberate New Trier (22-5).

Lawrenceville (25-3) will have to put a stop to Denny Pace if it hopes to advance past Collinsville (26-2). Pace, a tourney-hardened senior, scored 62 points in the two sectional triumphs.

In the lower bracket Decatur (28-2) faces Danville (24-5). Decatur, along with Pekin and Collinsville, played in last year's tournament.

Quincy (23-5) turning in one of the few major upsets in the sectionals by ousting Galesburg, meets Jacksonville (25-4).

Top-ranked Thornton (26-1) figures to get past East Leyden (21-5) and reach the quarterfinals at Champaign Friday and Marion (21-6) has high hopes against Mount Vernon (23-6).

Marion scored the other big sectional upset by routing Centralia.

Russell Paces 87-85 Wolverine Crown

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — All-America Cazzie Russell hit 11 crucial points in the stretch bringing top-ranked Michigan from behind for an 87-85 basketball victory over fifth-ranked Vanderbilt in finals of the NCAA Midwest regional tournament Saturday night.

Dayton beat DePaul 75-69 for third place.

Nine From YMCA Swim Team Earn Trip To State

ALTON — Nine of 13 Jacksonville YMCA district swimming participants earned the right to advance to the state meet at Normal April 3, in an 11-team meet here Saturday.

Jacksonville qualified to send 13 entrants to the district Saturday, determined by qualifying times set by the state board, and all 13 made the finals.

From those 13 nine are going to the state meet. The right to advance was determined by first or second place finishes in the finals, or by surpassing set times.

Swimmers going to state meet and events qualified in: Bob Sullivan, midjet 25 yd. backstroke; Tim Rourke, midjet 25 yd. backstroke; Eric Rammelkamp, junior 50 yd. butterfly; Alan Applebee, intermediate 50 yd. freestyle.

Intermediate medley relay, Jeff Coultais, Alan Bradish, Andy Applebee, Alan Applebee; Alex Brown, intermediate 100 yd. backstroke; Alan Bradish, intermediate 100 yd. breaststroke; intermediate freestyle relay, Greg Geiger, Andy Applebee, Alan Applebee, Jeff Coultais; Alan Applebee, 1st in 200 yd. freestyle with new district record time of 2:13.5.

Others who made the district trip were Willie Coultais, John Mathews, Bill Sullivan and Steve Reuck.

From Jacksonville the midjets placed 7th, the juniors 6th and the intermediates second with a total of 49½ points.

Hansen's Homer Nets 3-2 Sox Win

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Ron Hansen hit a leadoff homer in the fourth inning to give the Chicago White Sox a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the spring exhibition opener for both Saturday.

The Reds scored two unearned runs off Joe Horlen in the first inning on a double by Deron Johnson.

The White Sox forged a 2-2 deadlock in the third on hits by Ken Berry and Don Buford, a walk, Pete Ward's sacrifice fly and a theft of home by Buford.

Winner was Tommy John, who worked the middle three innings yielding four scratch singles. He and Bruce Howard pitched shutout ball and two dazzling defensive plays by Tommy Agee and Moose Skowron in the late innings preserved the victory.

Skowron snared Mel Queen's line drive to end the game with Reds on first and third.

DEVILIN PULLS TWO AHEAD AT DORAL

MIAMI (AP) — Australia's Bruce Devlin shot a 2-under-par 70 Saturday and pulled two strokes ahead of his nearest pursuer, Doug Sanders, in the battle for the $11,000 first prize in the Doral Invitational Golf Tournament.

The 27-year-old Devlin, seeking his first victory since he took the St. Petersburg Open a year ago, went into Sunday's final round 11 strokes under par for Doral's difficult course.

"This is the finest round I have ever played in my life," Devlin said.

Sanders shot a 71 for 207. Jack McGown, 34-year-old Air Force veteran from Largo, Fla., had a 68 to move into a third-place tie at 209 with Terry Dill, who made Muleshoe, Tex., famous.

Golden Gloves Starts Monday In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The 38th National Golden Gloves boxing tournament will be held in Kansas City for the first time, starting Monday. It will draw 240 fighters from 30 centers across the country.

The tournament was held in Chicago for 36 years, then switched to Louisville a year ago. It's possible the meet will be moved around the country from year to year.

This is the first time a Chicago team will be competing in the tourney away from home, and the city is certain to have one of the strongest teams here.

Fort Worth, drawing its team from all of Texas, also will be strong, as will Detroit, Buffalo, Denver and Kansas City.

The turnover in championships will be almost complete this year. John Cobb of St. Louis will be back to defend his welterweight crown but Hedgeman Lewis of Detroit, who won the lightweight title last year, has moved up to welterweight.

No other 1964 champions are back.

The fighters will range in size from 6-foot-6, 228-pound Lynn Farr of Fort Worth, a Texas Christian University student, down to 4-foot-11 Alan Lattimore, Kansas City flyweight. Lattimore lost in the national semifinals in 1963.

Coach Denies Fraser Charges

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Ed Temple, coach of the U.S. women's track teams in the 1960 and 1964 Olympics, has defended U.S. girls in the wake of publicity of swimmer Dawn Fraser's book.

The Australian gold medal winner indicated sex was a popular diversion in the Olympic Village where athletes lived during competition.

"I'll vouch for the conduct of the U.S. girls," said Temple, coach at Tennessee State and developer of several Olympic track stars. "I think you'll find Dawn Fraser to be the exception rather than the rule."

Angered at Miss Fraser's statements he said: "It certainly doesn't do the youngsters any good. She has set a very poor example, especially for Olympic competition—or any kind of competition."

He added: "As far as it being all sex, I don't doubt some doings go on with 9,000 athletes present. But I'm sure nothing happened in the U.S. women's or men's quarters."

The American team had bed checks at 10, 11 and 12 every night, he said. "We didn't allow our girls to even visit the dance pavilions until the competition was over."

Wichita Claims NCAA Midwest On 54-46 Margin

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Kelly Pete and his Wichita Shockers teammates turned the tables on Oklahoma State with their own slowdown offense Friday night and captured the NCAA Midwest regional basketball championship with a 54-46 triumph over the Cowboys.

Sophomore Charley Beasley dropped in two free throws after time had expired and brought Southern Methodist University an 89-87 victory over Houston in the game for third place.

Pete, a 6-1 jumping jack, who took over the team leadership when Stallworth departed, was the guiding force behind the Wichita triumph.

The Junior backcourt man with the shaved head scored 19 points, took down key rebounds and directed Wichita's attack.

The Shockers started off in what seemed to be a standard form play, their usual hustling offense and pressing man-to-man defense.

They hit the first five shots they tried and established a 14-7 lead with five minutes gone. Wichita improved its lead to 17-7, then to the howling delight of the crowd of 12,500, went into their own stalling offense.

They interspersed it with occasional fast breaks, held the lead the rest of the way, and were on top 31-22 at halftime.

LUCKY DEBONAIR FAVORED

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex. (AP) — Lucky Debonair, impressive winner of the Santa Anita Derby March 6, has been made the favorite to win the Kentucky Derby May 1 in the Caliente Futuro Book.

Lucky Debonair was quoted at odds of 3-1 to win in the opening line announced Saturday.

Jacinto, beaten four lengths by Lucky Debonair in the Santa Anita race, was next at 6-1. Other odds posted included Native Charger at 15-1 and Umbrella Fella and Bofun, 20-1.

For the long-shot players, Mool O' War and Mr. C.H. are available at 5,000-1.

Central State Ends Unbeaten Campaign, 85-51

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Tall and talent-rich Central State of Ohio easily whipped Oklahoma Baptist 85-51 Saturday night and became the first unbeaten team to win the 28-year NAIA basketball tournament.

Central, the No. 2 team in the final Associated Press small college poll, posted 30 straight victories, five in the tourney. The only other team to take a perfect record into the NAIA finals was Western Illinois, beaten by Tennessee State for the 1958 crown.

Ouchita Baptist of Arkansas, led by little David Kossover's 30 points, upset Fairmont State of West Virginia 78-71 for third place.

Central State, coached by William Lucas, may have saved its best for the finals. The big man again was 6-foot-6 Ken Wilburn, the tourney rebound champion. He had 16 points and controlled the boards. All five Central starters scored in double figures. It was the most lopsided title victory in NAIA tourney history.

Bradley Sparks Princeton Upset Of Providence

COLLEGE Park, Md. (AP) — Underdog Princeton, paced by All-America Bill Bradley's 41-point effort, demolished fourth-ranked Providence 109-69 Saturday night for the NCAA Eastern regional basketball championship.

The College Player of the Year sank 14 of 20 field goal attempts, grabbed nine rebounds and was credited with eight assists.

North Carolina State won the consolation round game from third-ranked St. Joseph's 103-81, as Larry Lakin scored 33 points.

Providence, an at-large entry in the tournament, started with a zone defense and Mike Riordan floating to concentrate on Bradley. That was soon discarded and Jim Walker was put on the Tigers' star.

Walker, who scored 27, had initial success on defense, but Bradley scored 10 points in the last 8½ minutes of the first half, which ended with Princeton on top 47-34.

The victory was the 13th in a row for the Tigers, who now have a 22-5 record. Providence, which opened the season with 19 victories in a row, finished with a 24-2 record.

Princeton was never behind after Bradley connected with his first shot. Providence tied the score at 13 and 15-all, but Bradley made a three-point play and the underdogs were on their way.

Michigan will be Princeton's opponent in the national semifinals at Portland. Earlier this season the Wolverines defeated the Tigers 80-78, but Princeton was on top by 12 points before Bradley fouled out of the contest.

AWARDED SWIMMING LETTER

PRINCETON, N.J. — Jeff Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Osborne Elliott of 1101 West State Street, Jacksonville, Ill., was awarded a varsity swimming letter for his performances with the Hun School squad last fall.

The presentation was made during the school's annual Sports Award Banquet. Joe Garagiola, former Major League catcher and now a TV and radio sportscaster, was guest speaker.

Elliott, a senior swam on the school's freestyle relay quartet.

All Football Comes From Stagg-Rockne

By HARRY GRAYSON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
All Amos Alonzo Stagg memorabilia will be on display in the college Football Hall of Fame if the slowpokes running the National Football Foundation ever get around to building one.

If everything having to do with Stagg that is worthy of remembrance is shown, the exhibit will take up so much space that the shrine would have to be moved to Texas instead of being built on the Rutgers campus in New Brunswick, N.J.

Stagg is the only man elected to the Hall of Fame as both player and coach.

Stagg, born while the Civil War was still a toss-up, was still coaching at 90. He will be 103 years old Aug. 16.

Stagg's story is that of intercollegiate athletics — football in particular. The Lonnie Stagg who Exeter and Yale knew in the 1880s did more than any other individual to make football the highly scientific and dramatic spectacle it is today.

Once asked Knute K. Rockne where he got his football and the almost magic Notre Dame system.

"I got it from Jesse Harper and Harper got it from Stagg," replied the immortal Rock. "All football comes from Stagg."

Stagg at the University of Chicago in 1892 became the first coach of athletics ever to attain academic rank. He made coaching a profession.

Leaving the Yale Divinity School, Stagg in 1890 found a student body of only 41 at Springfield (Mass.) College, yet organized a football team that won for two years.

New York Edges Bradley 71-70 In NIT Round

NEW YORK (AP) — New York University lost an 11-point halftime lead, then came from behind on Richie Dyer's jump shot with five seconds left for a 71-70 basketball triumph over defending champion Bradley in the second game of a National Invitation Tournament double-header Saturday night.

Detroit defeated LaSalle 93-86 in the first game of the evening doubleheader behind the shooting and passing of Lou Hyatt and will meet NYU in a quarter-final game next Tuesday night.

Army and Western Kentucky will meet in Tuesday's other contest following victories in an afternoon twinbill. Army edged St. Louis 70-66 behind the second-half spark of Dennis Shantz after Clem Haskins and Dwight Smith led Western Kentucky to a 57-53 victory over Fordham.

Shantz scored only two points in the first half as St. Louis took a 34-28 lead. But in the second period he joined with 6-7 John Ritch and at times completely demoralized the Billikens' attack.

Tom Carter almost won the game for St. Louis when he scored eight points in the last six minutes of the battle before a crowd of 12,144 in Madison Square Garden.

Haskins paced Western Kentucky with 20 points while Smith had 19.

Fordham jumped off to a 9-0 lead and Western Kentucky did not get a shot the first three minutes, but had a 28-26 advantage at the intermission. The Rams forged ahead 37-36 with 12:46 remaining in the second half but their lead was very brief as Haskins started connecting over the New Yorkers' zone defense.

LEAD IN CUP COMPETITION
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam took a 2-0 lead over Malaysia Saturday in their second-round Eastern Zone Davis Cup tennis competition.

Amos Alonzo Stagg

At 71, Stagg looked farther west for new fields. In 1933, he became head coach at College of the Pacific, where he remained 14 years.

It wasn't necessary for opposing coaches to show respect for old age on the field. Outweighed 20 pounds to a man, Stagg's band of 28 Pacific boys held mighty Howard Jones-coached Southern California to a 6-0 score in 1934. They belted California in '39, lost only to San Jose State, the highest scoring college outfit in the land.

In '43, at 81, Stagg was voted Coach of the Year. At 84, he finally became too old for even the College of the Pacific, so continued on until past 90 as aide to his son, Amos Alonzo Jr. at Susquehanna.

Stagg's contribution to the strategy, tactics, rules and everything else connected with football are far too many to list. He originated the shifting of the backs and the ends. He introduced angle blocking, was an early advocate of the forward pass. He increased the power of power plays, opened wider the open game, made deception trickier.

Stagg originated more formations, contributed more clever ideas and developed more famous players and coaches than anyone else. He was first to number players for the convenience of spectators.

Under Stagg, Chicago introduced intersectional games, was first to send a team across the Rockies.

Stagg, the original character builder, helped remove old antagonisms against football. He spoke for the game as well as he coached it.

Boy and man, player and coach, Amos Alonzo Stagg has been the most compelling force in American football for known.

Allow plenty of room for the Grand Old Man in the Hall of Fame.

PREAKNESS DRAWS 126

BALTIMORE (AP) — The $150,000-added Preakness, richest of three horse races comprising the Triple Crown for 3-year-olds, has attracted 126 nominees for its 90th running at Pimlico May 15.

The other two Triple Crown races are the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes. Each carries a purse of $125,000 in added money. The Derby will be run May 1 at Churchill Downs and the Belmont June 5 at Aqueduct.

The Preakness list is headed by Bold Lad, champion 2-year-old of 1964 currently training in New York for his seasonal debut; Lucky Debonair and Jacinto, stars of the winter season at Santa Anita, and the Florida-based pair of Native Charger and Hall to All.

State Tourney Data

Undefeated teams which have survived the tournament trail to a state championship were Taylorville, which captured 45 straight in 1944, Mt. Vernon, which won 33 in a row in 1950, LaGrange, which had 29 straight in 1953, Marshall (Chicago) which won 30 consecutive games in 1958, and Collinsville, which won 32 games without losing in 1961.

Five other teams went into the championship final undefeated, only to meet first losses. In 1922 Atwood's perfect record was nipped by Centralia, 24-16. Decatur did it to Danville, 26-22, in 1936, while in 1942 Paris, previously unbeaten, fell before Centralia, 35-33. DuSable of Chicago had a perfect mark of 31 straight in 1954, but lost to Mt. Vernon, 76-70. Collinsville won 34 straight games in 1957 before losing to Herrin, 45-42.

Looking over facts and figures of other state tournament records, here's what one finds (excluding figures for the 1965 season).

Four-time winners of state titles—Mt. Vernon (1920, 1949, 1950, 1954); Decatur (1931, 1936, 1945, 1962).

Three-time winners of state titles—Rockford High School (1911, 1919, 1939); Centralia (1918, 1922, 1942); Freeport (1915, 1926, 1951); Springfield (1917, 1935, 1959).

Two-Time Winners
Two-time winners of state title—Bloomington (1910, 1916); Elgin (1924, 1925); Morton of Cicero (1932, 1941); Paris (1943, 1947); West Rockford (1955, 1956); Marshall (Chicago) 1958, 1960).

Only schools to win two straight—Elgin (1924, 1925); Mt. Vernon (1949, 1950); West Rockford (1955, 1956).

Hebron in 1952 was the first district team ever to win the state title since smaller schools were placed in districts in 1938. Braidwood was runnerup to Dundee in 1938, and Cobden was runnerup to Pekin in 1964.

Highest score (total) in title game—146 points (Mt. Vernon 85, Danville 61) in 1950; (Mt. Vernon 76, DuSable 70) in 1954.

Highest single f or winning team—101 points (Rock Falls 101, Schlarman (Danville) 76) in 1958.

Highest championship game score for winning team—85 points (Mt. Vernon 85, Danville 61) in 1950.

Coaches of three state champions—Arthur L. Trout, Centralia (1918, 1922, 1942); Gay Kintner, Decatur (1931, 1936, 1945).

Coaches of two state champions—Mark Peterman (Canton, 1928, Springfield, 1935); Norman A. Ziebell (Morton of Cicero, 1932, 1941); Ernest W. Eveland (Paris, 1943, 1947); Stanley Chagnon (Mt. Vernon, 1949, 1950); Alex Saudargas (West Rockford, 1955, 1956); Isadore Salario (Marshall (Chicago) 1958, 1960).

Most Years Coached
Most years coached team in state tournament—11, by Mark Peterman, Canton—1923, 1924, 1925, 1926, 1928; Springfield—1932, 1933, 1934, 1935, 1945, 1947; and by Gay Kintner (Decatur—1931, 1936, 1937, 1938, 1942, 1943, 1945, 1946, 1949, 1951, and 1955).

Only coaches of two consecutive state champions—Stanley Chagnon, Mt. Vernon (1949, 1950); Alex Saudargas, West Rockford (1955, 1956).

Only coach to take four different teams to state tournament—Dolph Stanley (Equality, 1934; Mt. Pulaski, 1936; Taylorville, 1940, 1944; Auburn (Rockford) 1962, 1963).

Individual scoring record for all tournament games—121 points (31-38-27-25) by Ted Ciazza, LaGrange, 1953.

Most field goals in one game, individual—18, by Bryan Williams, Schlarman (Danville), 1961.

Most tournaments in which team has played—21, by Champaign. (1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1925, 1927, 1929, 1934, 1935, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1952, 1957).

Most consecutive tournaments in which team has played—7, by Champaign (1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949).

Most consecutive times played in state final game—3, by Thornton of Harvey (1933, 1934, 1935); Champaign (1945, 1946, 1947).

Most times coached team in state final game—4, by Ernest Eveland, Paris (1939, 1942, 1943, 1947); Mark Peterman, Canton (1928, 1928) and Springfield (1933, 1935); Gay Kintner, Decatur (1931, 1936, 1937, 1945); Arthur L. Trout, Centralia (1918, 1922, 1942, 1946).

Most consecutive trips coached team in state final game—3, Jack Lipe, Thornton of Harvey (1933, 1934, 1935); Harry Combes, Champaign (1945, 1946, 1947).

Modern individual point record for single game—49, 17 field goals, 15 free throws, by Jerry Kummerle, Schlarman (Danville) vs. Rock Falls, 1958.

Highest total score in state tournament game, two teams—177 points (Rock Falls 101 vs. Schlarman (Danville) 76) in DuSable of Chicago, 1964.

Ethiopian Olympic Marathon Ace Lives The Life Of A King

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Abebe Bikila, the only man ever to win two Olympic marathons, lives the life of a king—not just a king's body guard—in this East African nation renowned for its coffee, kings and fighting men.

Only Emperor Haile Selassie has greater stature among the Ethiopian people—and not much.

Slender, handsome, resplendent in plumed helmet and beribboned red coat of the Imperial Guard, Bikila walks the streets as a national hero.

People cheer him wildly, but none would dare walk up and shake his hand or ask his autograph—no more than they would approach the Emperor himself.

Bikila electrified the sports world in 1960 by winning the Olympic marathon at Rome, running barefoot over the cobblestones of the Appian way and finishing under the lights of the coliseum.

MacMurray 7th In NCAA Meet In Colorado

GOLDEN, Colo. — The MacMurray College wrestling team gained a seventh place finish in the national NCAA College Division Championships here Saturday night, amassing a total of 17 points. Mankato State captured the team trophy with a total of 46.

Heavyweight Bob Kellogg, a freshman from Rockford recorded nine of the Highlander's tally with a second place finish. Tipping the scales at 254 lbs., Kellogg lost on a 3-1 decision in the final match to John MacDonald of Northern Illinois University.

Syd LaMore, the Clan's top performer of the season with a 20-3 slate, was decided in the semi-final round 10-2 by Schmidt also of Northern Illinois. The fourth place effort gave the Mac grapplers an additional six points, while 137 pounder, captain Bob Mall earned a lone tally in the preliminary rounds.

This year marks the first tournament in which a MacMurray contestant has ever gained any points, a fact to which Clan center Dave Camione can look with pride.

The seventh place finish to Golden ends the Highlander wrestling season with a 12-3 mark, including their 10th ranked position in the nation NAIA coach's poll.

William Shea Top Candidate To Spell Frick

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—William F. Shea, generally credited with being the man most responsible for bringing National League baseball back to New York, has emerged as a leading candidate to succeed Ford Frick as the next commissioner of baseball.

Shea's name is one of the more than two dozen submitted by the major league club owners for consideration when the magnates meet in Clearwater, Fla., Monday, March 29 to take preliminary steps in electing Frick's successor.

Frick, in office since September, 1951, announced his retirement last summer, the retirement to take effect after the World Series in October.

The new commissioner, the fourth since Judge K.M. Landis took oath in 1920, is expected to be named some time before the World Series.

The ballots are regarded as top secret. Not all of them are in. Those that have been forwarded are in sealed envelopes which have not yet been opened. They won't be opened until the March 29 meeting.

Others May Be In Running

Yet, the identity of some nominees has been learned. These include, other than Shea, Senators Robert Kennedy of New York, Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota and Philip Hart of Michigan; Justice Byron (Whizzer) White of the Supreme Court; Gen. Maxwell Taylor; Richard Nixon; Judge Robert Cannon of Milwaukee; and Milton Eisenhower, brother of the former president.

Baseball figures nominated include Warren Giles, president of the National League; Joe Cronin, president of the American League; Gabe Paul of the Cleveland Indians and Lee MacPhail of the Baltimore Orioles, club presidents; and Buzie Bavasi of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Joe L. Brown of the Pittsburgh Pirates, general managers.

While Shea was recommended by the New York Mets, he is known to be held in high esteem by at least four other clubs.

The New York attorney, it appears, is one of the few candidates who meets virtually all of the requirements outlined for the new commissioner. He is sane-minded, an expert in legal affairs who knows baseball thoroughly. He is comparatively young, at 55, good looking, is a fine public speaker and, above all, has friends in Washington.

Blefary May Add The Punch To Put Orioles At The Top

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. MIAMI, Fla.—(NEA) — Life is exceedingly grim for Curt Blefary, age 21, who already has been stripped of his life's ambition — to wear pin-striped flannels with a big "NY" over the heart and play in Yankee Stadium.

He took $35,000 from the New York Yankees three years ago and still is letting them pay for his college education. But on April 29, 1963, while he was an apprentice at Greensboro, N.C., Curt heard that the Yankees had asked waivers on him and that he had been claimed by the Baltimore Orioles.

"Imagine," he muttered, "the only club in the majors that never made me an offer."

He took his hotel room for two days while he decided what he wanted to do with his life.

"At first," he recalled, "I didn't want to play baseball at all any more. I was disgusted. Sick. Then I decided I'd really make 'em pay for it."

This is the year he can do it. Blefary (blef-ee) could be just what the Orioles needed this year to make up their two-game deficit in the standings at the end of '64. Baltimore bloomed when Boog Powell bumped into a wall at Fenway Park and broke his wrist, and there was no one to compensate for the missing power.

If there's one thing Blefary has, it's power. He hit 31 home runs last year at Rochester in Triple-A ball, knocked in 80 and showed a judicious eye for the strike zone by getting walked 102 times. Those walks are the only sign of patience in a heavy-nosed youngster whose aggressions uncoil from his cold blue eyes in casual conversation.

"I'm no spoiled bonus baby," he said fervently after the Orioles concluded a workout at Miami Stadium. "I was in the first group out on the practice field, and I stayed through the second group because I worked on shifting my feet in the outfield. I want to get a better jump on the ball."

"I'd play the same whether it's for $5 or $50,000. There's only one way to play this game. Hard!"

Curt has been obsessed with playing baseball since his dad, an old 100-yard dash man, stuck a sawed-off fungo bat in his hands at the age of 2. "I remember it clear as yesterday," said Curt.

The Blefarys resided in upper Manhattan, Yankee territory. And though the family moved to Mahwah, N. J., and Curt grew into a 195-pound all-state halfback, the Yankees were his future. He turned down scholarship offers from 24 schools — North Carolina, Duke, Ohio State, UCLA included — to attend Wagner College so he could be near home. And he signed with New York for less money.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals, baseball's world champions, opened their spring exhibition schedule Saturday by beating the New York Mets, the same club they defeated on the last day of the 1964 season to win the National League pennant.

The Cards won 2-1 at St. Petersburg, Fla. making a successful debut for Red Schoendienst as the Redbird manager. He made a winning move in the ninth when the Mets loaded the bases with none out. Schoendienst called in Barney Schultz from the bullpen.

Schultz ended the game by striking out Cleon Jones and Ron Hunt and throwing out Ron Swoboda.

The Mets also loaded the bases in the fifth, but Yogi Berra, making his Met debut as pinch-hitter, was struck out by ex-Met Tracy Stallard.

Johnny Keane, the former Cardinal manager who succeeded Berra as manager of the New York Yankees after the World Series, had a pleasant day at Fort Lauderdale. The Yankees crushed Baltimore 10-2 with Whitey Ford pitching three scoreless innings.

The Yankee southpaw star, whose arm was operated upon during the off season, yielded only two singles, walked none and fanned two.

Sanford Arm Okay

Jack Sanford, San Francisco right-hander who also underwent an arm operation last year, similarly worked three scoreless innings as the Giants beat Cleveland 5-2 at Tucson. He yielded only two singles, both by Dick Howser.

A second Cleveland team went to Palm Springs, Calif., and lost to the Los Angeles Angels 9-7. In other games the Chicago Cubs beat Boston 5-2, the Los Angeles Dodgers downed Milwaukee 4-2, the Chicago White Sox edged Cincinnati 3-2 and Pittsburgh shut out Philadelphia 2-0 in a seven-inning rain shortened game.

Ernie Banks' two-run homer paced the Cubs over the Red Sox at Mesa, Ariz.

"Good players require no handling. They take care of themselves, know what to do. Others might need a little understanding."

"Kids who can play form an image in their minds of what they want to be. The ones who succeed help themselves. A large percentage of those who fail have not taken advantage of the talent with which they were blessed. Baseball can be largely a state of mind."

"A pennant has yet to be won by a deep thinker or a cheerleader who didn't have some guys who could get the other side out and whack the ball."

"A bad manager can't help a poor club and he can ruin a good one. Don't let anyone tell you experience doesn't count. Yogi Berra will tell you he was a better manager on May 15 than he was on April 15 and knew much more on Sept. 15. Rapport with the players is essential and a little suggestion here or there has helped a lot."

"The manager is called 'Skipper' for a good reason. You might cross the Atlantic on the Queen Mary without ever knowing who the captain is, but let the boat get in trouble and you'll find out in a hurry. The good manager never conveys panic. He must convince all hands that he is in control, whether he is or not."

"While I wouldn't platoon a complete ballplayer like Johnny Callison, platooning keeps everybody in condition and on their toes. They may be called upon at any minute."

"I am fortunate in having a club that is totally unselfish. There isn't a man who wouldn't sacrifice himself for the good of the club."

"When a manager has a few guys who can execute and that spirit, it isn't hard for him to win."

"That is the story of the Phillies."

Orioles camp. "He was the best player in the International League at the age of 20. I'll tell the other outfielders here one thing. They better all hit. Curt is one power hitter you want to come out and see play baseball."

Joe DiMaggio saw him in a rookie camp with the Yankees three years ago and called him Belfry but retained a vivid impression: "This is a kid who thinks he should get a hit every time he swings at a pitch. He curses when he pops up."

Curt doesn't believe in Joy in Mudville.

"When I'm playing this game," he gritted, "I'm dead serious."

He was a catcher-first baseman then. Two years ago they took 12 stitches in his thigh after he blocked home plate on a close play. Every time he squatted to catch, he ripped out the sutures. Last summer he divided time between the outfield and first base, and the Orioles aren't quite sure where he'll fit in.

"I'll try to give them what they're looking for," said Blefary with feeling. "If I go out (to the farm), I'll go and still do my best. Sooner or later I'm going to make it, with some body."

"For four months," said Darrell Johnson, the Rochester manager who is helping in the Grayson reports:

By HARRY GRAYSON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — (NEA) — Gene Mauch managed Atlanta of the Southern Association when he was 27. At 39, looking younger than some of his players, he brought the Philadelphia Phillies from rock bottom to the top.

What is his theory of managing? He gives baseball buffs a fresh slant:

"The most overlooked part of managing is what happens in the spring. The most important month is March and not September."

"It is during the training period that the manager must properly appraise his men and see that they are as well-prepared as possible. It was in Florida that we changed Richie Allen from an outfielder into a third baseman, for example."

"A manager has to adjust himself to the material. Whatever he is going to accomplish has to be done with the men he has. So he must adjust his game to the talent."

"Every baseball man knows the fundamentals. You are not going to hit and run too much when you have guys who can hit the ball out of the park. You hit and run with fellows like Dick Groat and Bobby Richardson. The winning manager knows what his people can do and gets maximum effort."

"Managing demands extreme devotion. It's the only job in baseball where the old saying, 'You can't beat the hours,' doesn't apply. I'm managing the Philadelphia club the instant my feet hit the floor in the morning."

"The manager should be able to get and digest information about the opposition. Knowing what you have to beat helps you do it."

"Good players require no handling. They take care of themselves, know what to do. Others might need a little understanding."

"Kids who can play form an image in their minds of what they want to be. The ones who succeed help themselves. A large percentage of those who fail have not taken advantage of the talent with which they were blessed. Baseball can be largely a state of mind."

"A pennant has yet to be won by a deep thinker or a cheerleader who didn't have some guys who could get the other side out and whack the ball."

"A bad manager can't help a poor club and he can ruin a good one. Don't let anyone tell you experience doesn't count. Yogi Berra will tell you he was a better manager on May 15 than he was on April 15 and knew much more on Sept. 15. Rapport with the players is essential and a little suggestion here or there has helped a lot."

"The manager is called 'Skipper' for a good reason. You might cross the Atlantic on the Queen Mary without ever knowing who the captain is, but let the boat get in trouble and you'll find out in a hurry. The good manager never conveys panic. He must convince all hands that he is in control, whether he is or not."

"While I wouldn't platoon a complete ballplayer like Johnny Callison, platooning keeps everybody in condition and on their toes. They may be called upon at any minute."

"I am fortunate in having a club that is totally unselfish. There isn't a man who wouldn't sacrifice himself for the good of the club."

"When a manager has a few guys who can execute and that spirit, it isn't hard for him to win."

"That is the story of the Phillies."

Orioles camp. "He was the best player in the International League at the age of 20. I'll tell the other outfielders here one thing. They better all hit. Curt is one power hitter you want to come out and see play baseball."

Joe DiMaggio saw him in a rookie camp with the Yankees three years ago and called him Belfry but retained a vivid impression: "This is a kid who thinks he should get a hit every time he swings at a pitch. He curses when he pops up."

Curt doesn't believe in Joy in Mudville.

"When I'm playing this game," he gritted, "I'm dead serious."

He was a catcher-first baseman then. Two years ago they took 12 stitches in his thigh after he blocked home plate on a close play. Every time he squatted to catch, he ripped out the sutures. Last summer he divided time between the outfield and first base, and the Orioles aren't quite sure where he'll fit in.

"I'll try to give them what they're looking for," said Blefary with feeling. "If I go out (to the farm), I'll go and still do my best. Sooner or later I'm going to make it, with some body."

CLEARWATER, Fla. — (NEA) — Gene Mauch managed Atlanta of the Southern Association when he was 27. At 39, looking younger than some of his players, he brought the Philadelphia Phillies from rock bottom to the top.

What is his theory of managing? He gives baseball buffs a fresh slant:

"The most overlooked part of managing is what happens in the spring. The most important month is March and not September."

"It is during the training period that the manager must properly appraise his men and see that they are as well-prepared as possible. It was in Florida that we changed Richie Allen from an outfielder into a third baseman, for example."

"A manager has to adjust himself to the material. Whatever he is going to accomplish has to be done with the men he has. So he must adjust his game to the talent."

"Every baseball man knows the fundamentals. You are not going to hit and run too much when you have guys who can hit the ball out of the park. You hit and run with fellows like Dick Groat and Bobby Richardson. The winning manager knows what his people can do and gets maximum effort."

between you'n me

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN. VAIL, Colo. — (NEA) — Steve Knowlton remembers it was just 15 minutes after he moved up past Pete Seibert's position on the front lines facing the Po Valley. They were in Italy with the 10th Mountain Division, which meant they had to be skiers.

A mortar shell hit directly over Pete's foxhole and traced a murderous tattoo from the top of the platoon sergeant's forehead down the middle of his face and the right side of his body, finally tearing off his kneecap. While the medics hovered over him, another mortar burst imbedded more fragments in Pete's body.

That was the last Steve saw of Pete until after the war. They'd raced each other in prep school ski meets in New England. Then in the Nationals at Franconia, N.H., in the winter of 1946, Pete, still in army uniform, showed up after 18 months in the hospital. Steve's mother looked at him and asked, "Did you fall during the war?"

Seibert learned to ski all over again with the power in one leg and raced in FIS (Federation Internationale de Ski) events, the World Series of the sport. Knowlton made the 1948 Olympic team. Both drifted back to Colorado, where the 10th Mountain had trained.

And the fruition of their work is in the American International races which start at Vail March 13, the biggest skiing event in the world this year, with teams from Austria, France and the United States competing. All the big names will be there—Karl Schranz for Austria, the Gotschel sisters for France, Billy Kidd and Jimmy Hugga for America. The meet signifies the arrival of the United States as a genuine power in the Alpine events after the surprise showing in the 1964 Olympics at Innsbruck (Kidd and Hugga won silver and bronze medals, respectively, in the slalom). The hosting Vail area, just three years old, is Pete's pride. It's a glamor spot into which $15 million has been sunk. Seibert had gone from active skiing into managing the Loveland Basin area. One of his instructors, a summer prospector, told him about this range of slopes south of U.S. Highway 6 on the way to Aspen, but not visible from the road. Pete checked it out, compared it with his sites in neighboring states, then got such investors as John Murchison and Herbert Hunt, of the Texas Murchisons and Hunts, interested.

Presto, a ski area with the curious amalgamation of Swiss-styled chalets and condominiums, yodeling, mingled with Texas drawl and Colorado twang. It also has the self-proclaimed longest gondola lift in the world.

Knowlton's role is letting the world know about it, as director of Colorado Ski Country USA, a promotional body for the many ski areas that flourish in the Rockies.

Six feet of snow is always assured. And so is the perpetuation of the crusty New England energy that has gone into making skiing the flourishing activity on the silvery slopes of the Rockies.

At Aspen, which has felt the edges of Jackie Kennedy's skis (Caroline and John John, too), they held races for boys 11 and under the other day. Aspen is sort of the original hatchery of this skiing mania, and in the early days a decade ago, Steve owned a bar there, while Pete was an instructor.

Well, when those kids came down the mountain, in first place was young Jamie Knowlton. And not far behind him was Pete Seibert Jr.

Their dads were there, too. Visibly proud of what they had wrought.

NBC Sponsoring Record Number Of Circuits

WICHITA, KAN. — A record number of baseball circuits is being franchised by the National Baseball Congress in each of the 50 states into its 1965 National Association of Leagues.

These comprise two divisions. One is for players of any age. The other, known as the Youth Division, includes teams with a definite maximum age limit with each organization establishing its own, any year from 8 to 21.

In both divisions, the national organization awards an elaborate trophy to championship team, sleeve patches to members of championship team and All-League players; also individual awards to leading players. Each league is recognized with photo of champions in the following edition of the Official Baseball Annual, yearbook of the Congress, in addition to other benefits.

The leading team in leagues with maximum age limit of 17 years of age or over is eligible for participation in the majority of zones for certification in one of the 50 NBC franchised state tournaments to qualify further for a berth in the 31st annual National Tournament in Wichita next August.

The National Baseball Congress also sponsors National Associations of Umpires, Scorers and Fans.

Highlights of any phase of the Congress program are available by contacting National Baseball Congress, Wichita, Kan. Complete details are in the 1965 Official Baseball Annual at leading news stands and athletic goods stores. This book is also available from the publisher at $1.75, plus 25-cent each mailing charge.

CUBS WIN CACTUS LEAGUE OPENER 5-2

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs parlayed three unearned runs into a 5-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox in a Cactus League opener for both baseball teams Saturday.

It was a 2-2 standoff when the Cubs scored their first unearned run off loser Ed Connolly in the fifth. Chicago picked up two more runs in the eighth off Earl Wilson as Harry Bright delivered a pinch single for the first and rookie outfielder Don Young drew a bases-full walk.

The Red Sox scored their runs on Felix Mantilla's second inning homer off starter Larry Jackson behind Tony Conigliaro's leadoff single.

The Cubs matched this in their half when George Altman hit a one-out single off Bill Monbouquette. He scored ahead of Ernie Banks, who blazed a long homer over the left field fence.

Rookie right-hander Paul Jaekel, the second of four Chicago pitchers, was credited with the victory.

Final Options For City Hall Sites Secured

Final options on real estate near the present city hall site were secured last Friday according to Mayor Byron Holkenbrink. The fourth was added to the list of three others secured three months ago.

The other locations are: the Baptist church, northeast corner of West State and Church; the Doyle property, north of the county court house; and the Douglas hotel site on the northwest corner of the square. The hotel site was approved by the council about three months ago for preliminary plans.

The Jacksonville Building Commission, with council approval, hired Nelson and Fernandes, architects, of Springfield to draw plans for the proposed new building. Holkenbrink said Saturday that the location of the new building, the style, cost and floor plans will be a decision for the city council. The building commission has gathered information during the past several months to help council members make their decision.

Model Housing Code Meeting Next Thursday

The Morgan County League of Women Voters is sponsoring an open meeting at the YMCA Thursday, March 14, at 8 p.m., to discuss the model housing code being proposed for adoption by the city of Jacksonville. Representatives from the Citizens' Advisory Committee, the City Council and the League of Women Voters will be included in a panel of speakers who will explain the purposes of the proposed code. A question and answer period will follow.

The meeting was originally scheduled for Feb. 25 but postponed due to the heavy snowfall. Several members of the city council have requested the public meeting to explain all aspects of the code during an open discussion on the issues involved.

Mrs. Roy McClintock, local president of the League, said the group voted in 1963 "to take action in obtaining an adequate and enforceable housing code." Interested citizens are urged to attend and participate in the discussion.

Armed Robbers Get About $5,000 At Griggsville

State and county police set road blocks throughout an eight county area Saturday night in an attempt to capture three suspects who robbed a Griggsville store of $5,000 about nine o'clock.

Police disclosed Saturday night that two armed robbers escaped after robbing a Griggsville couple late that evening. A third accomplice was thought to have been driving the getaway car.

Road blocks were set-up at Beardstown, Meredosia and the Florence bridge after the car, identified as that used by the suspects, was last seen headed east.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ellis, operators of the Ellis Super Buy grocery in Griggsville, closed their business establishment shortly before 9 o'clock Saturday night.

When Mr. and Mrs. Ellis arrived at their home, two unidentified men dressed in rubber Frogman suits rushed them with guns. One of the men had a long-barrel shotgun.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis were bound and gagged and the telephone cord cut before the two men left. The men escaped with the day's receipts plus other money in the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis were not injured during the ordeal. Both, in their late 50's, were described as suffering from severe shock.

The Ellis home had been ransacked from top to bottom, apparently in search of money.

Mrs. Ellis managed to get loose and notified authorities from a neighbor's house. Mr. and Mrs. Cleon "Corky" Miller, employees at the store, said the Ellis' were not in the best of health.

Sheriff's deputies and state troopers set up roadblocks on all roads leading out of Griggsville about 9:30 p.m.

'Trees' Fund Climbs

A tremendous effort on the part of Jacksonville residents, one from Franklin and another from Chicago, added $208.50 to "Project Trees" for a total balance in the fund of $923.50 Saturday.

Sponsors of the project expressed the hope that potential donors would still consider contributions even when the fund passed $1,000.

As many funds as possible are desired for the campaign, which is designed to re-plant sections of Jacksonville with shade trees. Many areas of the city have been left barren by the loss of the stately elm tree, which has fallen victim of the dreaded Dutch elm disease.

Sponsors stated that they hope to have the planting of the trees completed by April 15.

Strong support for the project came last week with state members from the Jacksonville Park Board and Cemetery Board.

A number of trees will be allocated to the two city cemeteries and local parks that have noticed the loss of the elm trees.

Some 24 varieties of trees, ranging in height from four to fifteen feet will be available for the project, through the cooperation of local nurserymen.

Those contributions received Friday and Saturday were:

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brown	$10
Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kaufmann	$15
Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Keller	$5
Mr. and Mrs. Merton H. Abbott	$10

Louise Stryker Capps	$20
Mrs. Roy W. Davenport	$10
Total	$208.50
Balance	$715.00
Grand Total	$923.50

WHERE TO SEND FUNDS FOR TREES

Contributions to the tree-planting fund may be sent to "Trees," Jacksonville Journal Courier, 235 West State Street. Names of those donating between $4.50 and $15, the price range of the trees, will be published, unless otherwise designated.

Checks should be made payable to the Jacksonville Tree Planting Fund.

Schedule Rites In Brown For Ora Lee Glasgow

MT. STERLING — Funeral services for Mrs. Ora Lee Glasgow, 82, of Mt. Sterling, who died at her home Friday, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at Rounds Funeral Chapel with Reverend C. C. McCaw officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Sterling City cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday afternoon and evening and until time of services Monday.

Mrs. Glasgow, a lifelong Brown County resident, was born March 24, 1882; daughter of Abner C. and Mary Singleton Rigg. She was married to Burt Boston Glasgow, who preceded her in death.

She is survived by one son, Randall of Mt. Sterling; a sister, Mrs. Effie Veith, who is a patient at Oaklawn sanatorium, Jacksonville; and three grandchildren.

Mrs. Glasgow, who had lived in Mt. Sterling for the past 12 years, attended Brown County schools and was a member of the Mt. Sterling Christian church.

Articles On 16 Alderman Races To Start Monday

Starting Monday, a series of stories will appear in the Jacksonville Journal and Courier dealing with the 16 candidates for alderman in the upcoming April 20 city election.

The election will decide seven four-year aldermanic positions and one two-year term.

The stories, which will contain largely biographical information on the candidates, will begin with the first ward, with the incumbent candidate's story appearing first, and then his opponent.

The articles will appear on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week with the final story on election Monday, April 19.

Five incumbent candidates, and one appointed alderman, four Republicans and two Democrats, will be vying for positions on the council.

In two ward races, the contests will be between four novices, while veterans will battle it out in the remaining wards.

"The Line-Ups"

Candidates for alderman in the seven wards of the city are: First ward: Jimmie Fernandez (R) of 624 N. East, incumbent; Loren E. Rogers (D) of 345 E. Wolcott.

Second ward: Lawrence Quinlan (R) of 271 Harlan, incumbent; Dan F. Lahey (D) of 415 E. Douglas.

Third ward: William A. Yording (D) of 919 Bibbs, incumbent; Kenneth E. Biggs (R) of 841 S. East.

Fourth ward: Wilbur G. DeFrates (R) of 602 S. Church, incumbent; Bernard L. Woodward (D) of 636 S. Kosciusko.

Fifth ward: John Pine (R) of 14 Sunnydale; Edward F. Brennan (D) of 1708 Mount Road, now serving as alderman by appointment.

Running for the unexpired two-year term left vacant by Milt Hocking (R) in the fifth ward will be Warren Massey (R) of 277 Finley; Clarence W. Willner (D) of 844 W. Chambers.

Sixth ward: Charles L. Quinn (R) of 743 W. Douglas, incumbent; John B. Koch (D) of 710 W. Beecher.

Seventh ward: Carl Bourn (R) of 1079 North Diamond; Junior Beranek (D) of 813 Freedman.

National Poison Prevention Week

Majority Of Accidents Preventable

Governor Kerner has recently proclaimed the week of March 14-20 as National Poison Prevention Week. It is fitting that the public be made aware of or reminded of the following facts:

In the United States, accidents and poisonings are the most common causes of deaths in the pediatric age group. It is reported that in 1963, of about 20,000 persons who died of accidental poisoning in the United States, 1/4 occurred in children under fifteen and about 4/5 of these were in children one to four years of age. Every year approximately 500,000 children swallow substances that may be harmful.

Medicines, household preparations, insect sprays, kerosene, lighter fluid, furniture polish, paints, solvents and products containing lye and acids are most frequently the cause of accidental poisoning in children.

The majority of accidents in children are preventable and the responsibility lies in the parents and to some extent in the physicians.

It cannot be over-emphasized that medicines and chemicals should be out of reach of children and securely locked. Places that should be guarded are the medicine cabinet, cupboards, pantry; also garbage pails and cosmetic shelves. Poisons should not be stored in food containers and should be made as unattractive as possible.

Poisonings can occur not only by ingestion but also by inhalation of dangerous fumes such as those from gas pipes and stoves.

On the part of physicians and pharmacists, prescriptions for dangerous or potent drugs should be written for only small quantities at a time. They should also be properly labeled with instructions and precautions about the administration to children.

In case of any doubt as to the hazards of any drug, chemical, or any unknown substance that has been ingested, a physician should be notified, or the Poison Control Center located at Passavant Hospital, should be contacted immediately. These two telephone numbers should always be handy.

Keeping these pointers in mind and observing them will help lower the alarming increase in the incidence of accidental poisoning in the entire population, especially children.

Harold Lair, Former Local Resident, Dies

Harold Junior Lair, 40, a former Jacksonville resident, passed away Saturday morning at Hines Veterans hospital where he had been a patient three weeks. The Lair family had lived at Plainfield for the past 12 years.

Mr. Lair was born in Jacksonville Sept. 14, 1924; son of Harold and Pauline Crabtree Lair. He was married to the former Betty Slagle, who survives together with two daughters, Linda Sue, 13, and Nancy Ann, 8.

Also surviving are four brothers: John of Santa Fe Springs, Calif.; James of Ottawa, Harry of Winchester and Erle of Winnetka.

Mr. Lair attended Jacksonville High School and served in the U.S. Navy during World War Two. He was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose and the American Legion and had been employed by the Ruan Oil company at Plainfield until illness forced his retirement.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Williamson Funeral Home. Burial will be in Diamond Grove cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the funeral home from 7-9 p.m. Monday.

ARRESTED ON DWI CHARGE FRIDAY

Raymond E. Belcher, 46, of 1814 West Barker, Peoria, was arrested by state troopers 1/2 mile east of Jacksonville on Route 36-54 Friday afternoon.

Belcher was officially charged with driving while intoxicated and illegal transportation of liquor.

He was later released under $1,000 bond for appearance later in circuit court.

Worship Form Changes At Our Saviour's Church

Changes in the form of worship decreed by the Second Vatican Council were ushered in Sunday, March 7, at the Church of Our Saviour.

While the prayers of the Mass remained unchanged, the rubrics (or actions of the sacrificial priest and people) underwent several modifications.

Chief among the changes was the position of the priest during the Mass. Hitherto he stood at the altar with his back to the congregation. Last Sunday, at an altar of sacrifice erected near the forefront of the sanctuary, the priest faced the people across the table.

Representatives of the congregation carried the sacrificial gifts of bread and wine to the altar at the Offertory. A layman read excerpts from the Epistles from a lectern within the sanctuary. Parts of the eucharistic prayer or Canon of the Mass, formerly recited in a subdued voice by the priest, will now be recited aloud or chanted.

5 Candidates In Mayor's Race At White Hall

WHITE HALL — Five candidates have filed for the office of mayor of White Hall, the election to be held April 20. The candidates include Ira C. Clark, incumbent; Paul Fry, Benjamin Wright, Leonard W. Fisher and Earnest L. Hammond.

Record Crowd At Mt. Sterling Scout Banquet

MT. STERLING — A large crowd attended the annual Girl Scout banquet held Thursday night, March 11, in Brown county High School cafeteria. The 356 present represented the greatest number yet to attend such an affair here.

There were 92 registered Girl Scouts present. Among the special guests invited by the different Troops were Ed Kunkel, alderman; Robert Hayward, Farm Adviser; Mrs. Estelle Grether, art teacher; Sid Landfield, news editor; Bob Utter, attorney and Dan Teeley, state representative, all from Mt. Sterling.

Also Rev. Harp of Ripley; Mrs. Marion Thompson and Mrs. Merley Newkirk, Scout executives from the Two Rivers Council of Girl Scouts at Quincy.

Following the dinner a program was held in the school auditorium.

Each Troop was responsible for a part in the songs, dances, flag ceremony and skits.

Girl Scout Troop leaders are: Mrs. Ed Kunkel, Mrs. George Northrup, Mrs. Glenn Manis, Mrs. Earl Furlong, Mrs. Norbert Busen, Mrs. Donald Hollebeak, Mrs. John VanGiesen, Mrs. Dean Hulvey, Mrs. Jim Dixon, Mrs. Fred Elbus and Mrs. Mike Laniels.

Mrs. Lanie Wagner, Mrs. Ray Moorman and Mrs. Bill Roe, neighborhood chairmen, troop organizer and troop consultant were also guests. Mrs. Wagner introduced numbers on the program and presented the guests.

Dr. Schaefer Has Program Before Psychology Club

The Jacksonville Psychology club met last Monday evening March 8, and heard Dr. Schaefer of the MacMurray College present the topic, A New Model for Emotion.

Dr. Schaefer is formulating a theoretical model, by which behaviors not based upon fear and anxiety reduction, can be lawfully understood. A MacMurray College senior will this spring conduct an experiment which may yield data concerning the validity of Dr. Schaefer's model.

After discussion the meeting adjourned. The club will meet next on April 12th.

LENTEN BREAKFAST LEADERS THURSDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Middendorf

Middendorf And Long

Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Garland Alvin Middendorf are making their home at 1156 West Lafayette avenue in this city since returning from a honeymoon in New Orleans, Merida, Yucatan and other points of interest in Mexico. They were married Valentine's Day, February fourteenth, in the Missouri Methodist church in Columbia, Missouri.

The bride is the daughter of the C. Elwood Long of Columbia and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Middendorf, Jacksonville route three.

Dr. Monk Bryan performed the double ring ceremony. White mums and red roses were used at the candlelight altar where Richard Middendorf and Spencer Bonjean, Jacksonville, served as acolytes.

Miss Patricia Whitmarsh, Columbia, was organist and Mrs. Richard Middendorf, sister-in-law of the groom, sang.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin princess gown fashioned to enthrall. Her mantilla of Valenciennes lace fell from a sat in headress. She carried a French nosegay of stephanotis and pale yellow roses.

Mrs. Ronnie Headrick, Fort Worth, Texas, sorority sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Toller-ton, Brookfield, Missouri; Morrene Hughes and Debby Daniels, both of Fayette, Missouri; Pam Harmon and Sharon Fisk, of Columbia.

The attendants were gowned alike in wine red satin sheaths, full length with lace overblouses. Dior bow headresses matched their gowns and they carried colonial bouquets of white carnations centered with red roses.

Little Landy Stone of Columbia was flower girl. She wore a white satin frock and Kenton E. Long, Columbia, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Groomsmen were Richard Middendorf, Jacksonville, brother of the groom; Bob Neuman, Glenview, Illinois; E. Elwood Long, Columbia, brother of the bride and Spencer Bonjean of Jacksonville. Bonjean and Neuman are fraternity brothers of the groom.

Ushers were Steve Stiles, St. Joseph, Missouri; Loren Becker of Jacksonville and John and Jim Sevcik, both of Columbia.

The bride's mother wore a pink silk ensemble with matching accessories and a white orchid. The groom's mother was in a Dior blue lace and silk shantung costume and wore a pink orchid.

Over nine hundred guests were entertained at the reception held in the spacious parlor at the church. Friends of the bride's family assisted with courtesies.

Plan Easter Reception
The groom's parents will host a reception for the couple on Easter Sunday, April eighteenth, at the Dunlap Motor Inn. Friends of the couple and also family friends are cordially invited to call from three to five o'clock in the afternoon.

Betrothed

Joanne Plummer

Mr. and Mrs. John Plummer of Baylis announce the engagement of their daughter, Joanne, to Gene Whewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Whewell, New Salem route one. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Plummer is a senior at Pittsfield High School and Mr. Whewell is bookkeeper for the V. H. Callender Construction firm in Pittsfield. He is the grandson of Mrs. Walter Whewell of Alsey and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fisher of Chapin.

The Claiborn Simpsons of Corsicana, Texas entertained for the couple at a pre-nuptial cocktail party in the Colonial Room, Tiger Hotel, in Columbia. Organist Paul Johnston provided music for dancing and guests were served from a hot canape buffet. Among out of town guests were the groom's parents and his brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Middendorf and David Middendorf, all of Jacksonville.

The bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Fleet Scotten of Fayette, Missouri, entertained at the rehearsal supper February 13th. In addition to members of the wedding party other guests included the parents of the couple; Mr. and Mrs. Claiborn Simpson, Corsicana, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Stone, Columbia, parents of the flower girl in the wedding party and Mrs. John Schade of Massachusetts.

Mrs. Middendorf graduated from high school at Fayette, Missouri and Texas Christian University, Fort Worth. She is a member of Kappa Delta social sorority. The groom graduated from Jacksonville High School in 1960 and this past January from the School of Business and Public Administration, University of Missouri in Columbia. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He attended DePaul University, Chicago where he received a degree in real estate and appraisal and also the Fidelity Union Life Insurance School of Insurance in Dallas, Texas. He is one of the partners in the firm, Alvin Middendorf and Sons, Auctioneers and Real Estate in this city.

Naturalists To Give Program At Garden Club

The Morgan County Garden Club will meet at the Youth Center at 2 p.m. on March 20. Following the business meeting at which the president, Miss Emma Mae Leonhard will preside, musical numbers will be presented by a trio, of Mrs. Robert Mawson, Mrs. George Archer and Mrs. Dale Mawson, accompanied by the music chairman, Mrs. George Vasey.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Prager, naturalists at the Abraham Lincoln Memorial Garden, will have the topic "Nature Education at the Abraham Lincoln Memorial Garden." Prior to their coming to Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. Prager were naturalists at Glen Helen, a 1000-acre nature preserve in southwestern Ohio. Their program in the Abraham Lincoln Memorial Garden is a very active one; conducting field trips for school classes, scouts, church groups; and for Garden Clubs, Audubon Societies, and other adult groups. They have been in charge of the program in Springfield for a year and a half and have made their services available in previously scheduled appointments to over 9000 individuals, of which 7000 were children. Hundreds of persons have been conducted informally on the trails.

A nature center is presently under construction not far from the main entrance to the Garden, and this will enable to nature program to be consistently presented, regardless of the weather. Exhibits in the new center will also reinforce the educational program of the Memorial Garden.

Tea will be served at the conclusion of the meeting, with members of the Garden Club serving as hostesses, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Walduis Bealmer and Mrs. Everett Reynolds.

Mt. Sterling Girls Become Brides In Double Ceremony

MT. STERLING — Two Mt. Sterling girls became brides in a double wedding ceremony performed Friday, March 5th at Hannibal, Missouri.

Miss Sharon Friday and Larry McCormick, formerly of Mt. Sterling, were wed and Miss Julie Feld and Robert Williams of Rock Island were united.

The former Miss Friday is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loraine Friday, Mt. Sterling and her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester McCormick of Missouri, formerly of Brown county.

Miss Feld is the daughter of the Raymond Felds, Mt. Sterling and Mr. Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Williams of Rock Island. Both couples will make their homes in Rock Island.

Susan Jane Hall

The Harry L. Halls, 1203 Mound avenue, announce the engagement and forthcoming wedding plans of their daughter, Susan Jane, and Fred W. Garver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Garver of Boggstown, Indiana. They plan to be married in Jacksonville in July.

The bride-elect graduated from DePaul University, Greencastle, Indiana and is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi social sorority. She is presently teaching Spanish at Howe High School in Indianapolis. Miss Hall was crowned queen of the Beaux Arts Ball in this city in 1960.

Mr. Garver was graduated from Indiana University where he was a member of Acacia, social fraternity and from Indiana University Law School, Indianapolis Division in January of 1964. He was admitted to the Bar in May of that same year. Phi Delta Phi is his legal fraternity.

Plans Wedding

Linda Pevey

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pevey, 327 East College avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to Donald A. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lennie Stone of Marblehead, Illinois.

They will be married Saturday, April third, at the Brooklyn Methodist church in Jacksonville.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapters

Mu Eta chapter met March 1 with Mrs. Norma Willner, Mrs. Gloria Gray, president, presided.

Barbara Wooldridge, chairman of the ways and means committee, reported on the current project. Last minute arrangements were made for a rush party and committees appointed.

During the social hour "you don't say," television game, was played. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Sue Willard was the Feb. 15 hostess, and on Feb. 1 the chapter met at the Blackhawk.

Court Our Saviour Has Annual St. Pat's Dinner

A large group of the Catholic Daughters of America met in the Knights of Columbus Hall on March 4 for the annual potluck dinner. In keeping with the colors of St. Patrick, tables were attractively decorated with green and white carnation trees. Guest included Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael O. Driscoll and the court chaplain Rev. James Caldwell.

Following the dinner Clinton Dobbins, from Dobbins Bakery, demonstrated the technique he uses in cake decorating and gave many helpful hints to his interested audience. Beautiful cakes were won by Miss Josephine Foley, Mrs. Myron Long, Mrs. Gerald Agans, Mrs. James Eagar, Mrs. Thomas Kerrhard, Mrs. Paul Keating, and Mrs. Leo Lahey.

A brief business meeting was conducted by the Grand Regent, Mrs. Donald Blesse. Members were asked to help with the Volunteer Service program at the State Hospital. National Headquarters of the C. D. Disaster Fund, which is being used to help alleviate some of the losses in the Northwest section of the United States. Since the number of students from Our Saviour Grade School and Routt High School participating in the annual poetry contest was few, the recommendation was made that it would be unfair to award prizes this year.

Announcements

Mrs. Con Lonergan thanked members for saving cancelled stamps and hose for the Missions. Mrs. Lonergan asked for material suitable for making children's dresses and volunteers who might like to help sew these dresses for the mission.

Mrs. Kenneth Cannon spoke on behalf of the Big Brother and Sister program asking for volunteers to help with transportation and act as chaperones on the second Saturday of the month at the Youth Center. Rev. James Caldwell is president of the board. Mrs. Clarence Jennings mentioned that a new Rosary Book Club is being organized to encourage more members to read. Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Jennings or Mrs. Norbert McGinnis.

Salute To Kiwanis—50 Years Of Service

This year is an anniversary year for one of the nation's most active service clubs. Kiwanis International, founded in Detroit on Jan. 21, 1915, almost immediately captured a spirit of voluntary service to youth, community, and nation. In 1916 the Kiwanis Club of Hamilton, Ontario, Canada was chartered; since that time civic-minded leaders in communities throughout the U.S., in Mexico, the Caribbean, Western Europe, and Japan have come together under the symbol of the large "K."

Jacksonville, Virginia, Winchester, Petersburg and Oakford, Barry, Springfield, South Springfield, Tallula, Chatham, Quincy, and many others are just a few of the area's Kiwanis Clubs — all dedicated to community service and fellowship.

There are 270,000 Kiwanians in 5,300 clubs throughout the world. Kiwanis International is an association of all the clubs which assists the local members in their community work. Fields in which programs have been established include agriculture and conservation, public and business affairs, support of churches in their spiritual aims, boys and girls work, Key Clubs (in high schools), Circle K Clubs (in colleges and universities), vocational guidance, and international relations. Other "major emphasis programs" are promoted each year.

Under the motto, "We Build," Kiwanians are doing much to improve their communities. Funds for youth and community services are obtained through such events as the local organization's Pancake and Sausage Day on April 12. The 115 Jacksonville Kiwanians sponsor a pony league softball team; a 4-H Showmanship Award at the Morgan County Fair; a delegate to the Illinois Boys' State; a Circle K Club; scholarships; a police training course for special juvenile problems; special projects at Illinois College, MacMurray College, Passavant Hospital School of Nursing, and Holy Cross Hospital; and the Kiwanis Spastic Paralysis Research Foundation.

During this Golden Anniversary Year, we tip our hat to Kiwanis and Kiwanians.

The FCC Plan For TV

When Newton N. Minow was chairman of the Federal Communications Commission he caused a great stir in the broadcasting industry by describing television as a "vast wasteland." The rumpus he caused may be as nothing when compared with the rumpus eventually to be kicked up by a proposal, now before the FCC, to curb the TV networks' power over programming.

The proposal has emerged from a five-year investigation of the networks' procurement and control of television programs. Should the FCC adopt it, the three commercial networks would be limited to having a financial interest in no more than 50 per cent of their offerings during the prime hours of 6 to 11 p.m. In addition, the big three of broadcasting would be prohibited from syndicating network re-runs for showing on independent stations; such sales would be handled by independent distribution companies.

The plan is that the remaining 50 per cent of the evening shows would be controlled directly by sponsors, working through independent producers. The theory behind the proposal, apparently, is that this would lead to more variety and higher quality in programming than is possible under a system in which more than 90 per cent of evening programs are owned in whole or in part by the networks.

It cannot be taken for granted that better programming would result. To give advertisers increased control over program content might have quite the opposite effect. Thus it is of the utmost importance that there be adequate hearings and exploration of this proposal.

Dear Ann:

Chips Off The Old Block

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: We have two sons, 7 and 4 years of age. They both walk just like their father. Everyone thinks it is very cute because the walk is an unusual one—sort of a waddle, with toes pointed out.
A friend of mine said, "I bet your husband is flattered that his sons have imitated his walk. It's always a compliment to a father when his sons want to be just like him."
I told her the boys are not imitating their father's walk—they inherited it, the same way they inherited his strong jaw and small, flat ears. She insists I am wrong. Am I? Please print this letter because the loser takes the winner to lunch. —OPAL AND GERT

Dear O and G: Children do not inherit "a manner of walking" in the same way they inherit curly hair or blue eyes. What they DO inherit, however, is hip and bone construction which produces the walk. So enjoy your lunch, Dearie. You win the bet.

Dear Ann Landers: I need an ear this morning and my gripe is something you just don't talk over with the neighbors—so you're it.

I've kept house (laundry and all), raised three boys and held down a job since the day I married. Suddenly I am 50 years old and so tired I could die.

So help me, I have never once said to my husband, "Come and help me with my work. I've been helping you support the family all these years." But I'm ready to say it now.

What bothers me most of all is that my husband is giving our teen-age sons the idea that housework is strictly the wife's department. They refuse to do one thing to help me because they see how their father looks down his nose at dish-drying, carrying out the trash or even clearing the dishes off the table.

This is a cry for help, Ann. Am I wrong? —FRAZZLED FRANCES

Dear Frances: No, you aren't wrong, but you're awfully late.
Women who work outside the home have every right to expect their husbands and children to give them a lift "inside" the home. The wife who brings in a check is helping her husband do his job and he should willingly and cheerfully help her with the dishes, the laundry, the cleaning—the whole bit.

Dear Ann Landers: Because so many women read and love your column I am writing in the hope that a young woman I have blessed in my prayers every night for 25 years will read this. We adopted our daughter from a home for unwed mothers 25 years ago. She has brought immeasurable joy to my husband and me. We have taught her to be proud of the young woman who gave her up so she could have a normal life with us.

I am sure that through the years every young mother who makes this sacrifice suffers pangs of loneliness. She must also wonder where her child is, what she looks like—and if she is well and content. I know the natural mother of our daughter would be thrilled to know that her little girl is now happily married and has a little girl of her own.

So thank you, dear lady, for your unselfishness. We hope you have made a good life for your-

Thailand Not Invincible To Red Encroachments

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Thailand, standing athwart the southwesterly course any great Communist push would take, is not quite the sturdy rock pictured in much of the argument over Southeast Asia's future.

There are indeed strong elements of a kind almost totally lacking in South Viet Nam and neighboring Laos. But there are also substantial weaknesses—above and beyond the admittedly troublesome subversion in Thailand's northwest.

Look at the good side first—the side which seems to get nearly exclusive emphasis from those who contend that Peking and Hanoi are not likely to shove the Thailand "rock" aside, no matter what successes they might have in Asian lands east of it.

Thailand does have a relatively stable government, dominated by the military. Under the SEATO pact, it has firm guarantees of its borders. And it has special assurances of military backing from the United States.

It is not a country seething with anti-Western feeling, for Thailand never has been colonized by the Europeans. The worst it suffered was the indignity of several unequal treaties granting trading and other concessions to the colonial powers.

Students of Thailand's history ascribe the country's avoidance of colonial status partly to the opportunistic diplomacy of shrewd 19th century kings and partly to British and French willingness to have the country serve as a buffer between their Asian holdings.

Relatively speaking, Thailand's economy has been a solid one. Average yearly income per person is roughly 40 per cent greater than in struggling India.

Yet the offset to this encouraging evidence is considerable. The most perilous aspect, viewed against the backdrop of possible Communist encroachment, is the apparent gap between Thailand's and their military—dominated government.

The Thai people are long accustomed to authoritarian gov-

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's Jerry Lewis' greatest production but give Mrs. Jerry Lewis all the credit.

Gary Lewis, eldest of the comedian's six sons, is the hottest teen-age idol in the country at the moment.

Gary, 19, is leader of a group called Gary Lewis and the Playboys. Last Dec. 15, Gary, who plays drums, and his combo recorded a rock 'n' roll song called "This Diamond Ring."

In the last week or so, it hit the top — on both the official Cashbox and Billboard charts.

"My dad didn't even know we recorded the song," says Gary. "My mom was our first manager and she paid all the recording expenses out of the household money dad gives her."

Even Gary doesn't know how many copies the record has sold but its rating puts it well over the million-seller class.

When Jerry first heard the recording, his only comment was: "This is music?"

Gary, whose only other show-business experience was performing and acting with his father, is no overnight success.

Last summer, he took his group out to Disneyland for a one-night job. He got it — and a steady job for the summer.

Then Ed Sullivan put him on his television show. Soon the network showed him. Now he's headlining rock 'n' roll concerts. They're sell-outs.

The London Palladium and British television have signed him for a month's appearance.

At this, the father stepped in.

"My dad let me take the English job on one condition," says Gary. "We must keep our hair cut, our nails clean and our clothes pressed. He says — and he's right — that it's the only new gimmick left in our racket."

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Dimitri Tiomkin, Oscar-winning movie composer, tells how to write a hit song.

"Make it simple, so that anyone can sing, hum or whistle it. But there is a fine line between a simple song and a dull one."

The great composers — Berlin, Kern, Foster — all know or knew this. That's why their songs are on every community sing.

Tiomkin, once a concert pianist in his native Russia, said he never became really famous until he fell in love with America.

"I started scoring Western movies and knew that difficult symphonic arrangements detracted from the action on the screen. So I made my music simple. All of a sudden I found myself a hit composer."

Tiomkin was a successful movie scorer for years until it took a simple melody called "Do not Forsake Me, Oh My Darling" or "The Ballad of High Noon" to start him on the road to becoming a millionaire.

HOLD FREEDOM PRAYER
GARY, Ind. (AP)—About 250 Negroes and whites knelt in prayer for civil rights marchers of Selma, Ala., Thursday afternoon in the middle of Gary's busiest intersection.

Barricades were erected to halt traffic on U.S. 20 and Ind. 53 after Police Chief Conway Mullins gave the Gary Freedom movement council permission for a 15-minute prayer. Afterward, the group dispersed quietly.

The name "baseball" was used to designate a popular sport in England as far back as the first half of the 18th century. A book about children's sports, later printed in America, shows a player at the plate with a bat, a pitcher, and two bases marked by posts rather than bags. There was a baseman beside each of them. In America, baseball was played at least as early as 1778 by some of the soldiers at Valley Forge.

FINDING THE WAY

Lord Said: "Say 'We'."

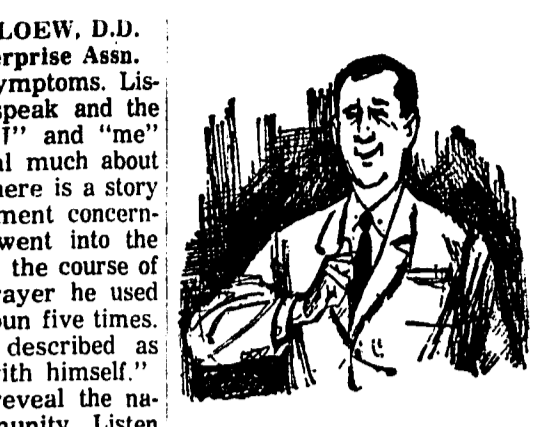

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Pronouns are symptoms. Listen to a person speak and the frequent use of "I" and "me" and "mine" reveal much about that individual. There is a story in the New Testament concerning a man who went into the church to pray. In the course of a two-sentence prayer he used the personal pronoun five times. No wonder he's described as having "prayed with himself."

Pronouns also reveal the nature of the community. Listen to men and women discuss the problems of their area of residence and you can soon tell whether that area has a proper inner security. The divisions between the "we" groups and the "they" groups are cleavages born of fears.

There is an old Indian proverb which reads, "Lord, help me to walk in my neighbor's moccasins for two weeks before I judge him." It's a good prayer. It takes a quality of inner security and abundant faith in eternal values to be able to feel empathetically.

Such writers as Fromm and Reisman have pointed out that selfish persons have none of this inner security nor do they have a proper sense of pride. A really selfish person has no pride in himself and therefore "must continually seek security in terms of conquests and the power to compensate for his lack of self-love. In other words the selfish person is not interested in himself, but only in others evaluation of himself. He shines in their reflected light, even when he dominates them."

That tragedy which has beset too many individuals has plagued communities and neighborhoods. Only those who have a proper understanding of self have the courage to adventure without fear. Watch someone who is afraid for himself and you usually see a person who doesn't respect himself. "A selfish person, if he is to change, needs to cultivate above all else a feeling of pride." The same is true of a city.

At the beginning of this Lenten season it might be an excellent adventure for us simply to keep an eye on our pronouns. Wrote Karl Wilson Baker:

The Lord said, "Say 'We'"; But I shook my head, Hid my hands tight behind my back, and said, "Stubbornly, 'I'."

The Lord said, "Say, 'We'"; But I looked upon them, grimy and all awry. Myself in all those twisted shapes? Ah, no! Distastefully I turned my head away, Persisting, "They."

The Lord said "Say 'We'"; At last, Richer by a hoard Of years And tears, Looked in their eyes and found the heavy word That bent my neck and bowed my head: Like a shamed schoolboy then I mumbled low, "We, Lord."

The Mature Parent

Why Not Psychotherapy?

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Though I'm good enough to baby-sit with my daughter's 5-year-old boy, I'm not good enough to have any opinions about the way she treats him. If I make any objection to the strictness with which she treats him, I am told that he's not going to get the kind of spoiling I gave her and her brother. I don't know what her resentment at me is but it is a great sorrow to me. Sometimes I think it is due to the eight months of psychotherapy she had before her marriage.

ANSWER: How about getting yourself some? And more than eight months of it.

Yes, I'm for parents' equipping themselves to deal with this new "I'm not going to raise my child as you raised me" kind of thing we receive from our Freud-sophisticated children today.

You're darn right I read. I think that a little Freud—a little psychotherapy—can be a very dangerous thing. I think that in children it can inflame all their probably justified resentments at us without teaching them how to outgrow them.

I think it puts children in the position of the man Jesus talked about who got rid of one demon only to find himself possessed by seven other demons. And so leaves them hate-happy, so proud of their new-found ability to attack and accuse that they revel in this power instead of discovering it to be something to outgrow as no longer necessary or important.

Of course you made mistakes in the training of your daughter and her brother. So what? What did she expect from you—God's divine and impeccable parenthood?

I can't tell you to challenge your daughter's slurs on your deficient parenthood. I can't tell you to invite her attacks on it unless you know that it is our human right to be deficient. Only when we know that this is true can we withstand children's Freud-stimulated fury at our deficiencies.

That's why I suggest you get some psychotherapy for yourself. As a person much older than your daughter is, you can do much better with psychotherapy than she has been able to do. You can use it for the increase of understanding instead of the increase of hate.

Tuna Provides Protein

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Q—My boys won't eat any fish but canned tuna. Can you tell me if tuna contains enough protein for me to use it in place of meat when I want to serve my family meatless meals?

A—Yes, definitely. Canned tuna is an excellent source of top-grade protein. It can be used as an alternate for meat and poultry in many family meals. Portion by portion, it supplies the same amount of protein as chopped beef. Not only with young boys but with the public generally it is very popular. According to Edwin L. Morris, director of the Tuna Research Foundation, sales of canned tuna last year were 7 per cent higher than the year before.

Tuna is an elusive fish and is now swimming farther out in the oceans. That explains why about 42 per cent of the tuna canned by American packers is now being caught by Japanese fishermen.

Q—Are orange juice and grapefruit juice equal in their vitamin C content?

A—Approximately five ounces of orange juice can provide the recommended daily allowance for adults, but six ounces of grapefruit juice would be needed, nutritionists state.

1972: Target Date Of End Of Swine Cholera In U.S.

For many years, the nation's most feared hog killer—cholera—spread unchecked throughout many farm communities. Complete herds were wiped out in a few days.

It may not be too many years before the killer disease may be completely eradicated from the state and the rest of the nation. A long-range program aimed at ridding the country of hog cholera was initiated in Illinois in 1961.

Despite the eradication program, which has made significant progress, hog cholera killed about $100,000 worth of swine on Illinois farms in 1964. Dr. Paul B. Doby, superintendent of the Illinois Department of Agriculture's division of livestock industry, reported that 3,962 swine died on farms quarantined during the past year. Outbreaks occurred in 51 counties.

FOOD: 1980 — WORLD OF CRISIS?

(from Top Profit Farming)

There will be 800 million hungry new mouths in Asia, Africa and Latin America by 1980—four times our U. S. population today. In many areas, they're teetering on the brink of famine. Frantic farmer efforts produce only a treadmill result.

Needs are huge! All our U. S. surplus food would not satisfy the world's hungry for a week. Our experience shows most cannot afford imports. Foreign aid sometimes only prolongs the problem. Birth control education takes a long time.

Best answer is more farm production. Best production tool: Fertilizer. But it'll take 30 million tons of fertilizer in 1980 to do the job. Total fertilizer output in Asia, Africa and Latin America last year was only 1 1/2 million tons. What can we do? It's been suggested we help provide the $5 billion needed for fertilizer plants. We might send technicians, stop-gap rations, and teachers. Nagging thought: Will our grandchildren look kindly on us if we spend $50 billion to get to the moon, when $5 billion would have saved half the world from starvation?

He felt his request was entirely in order but his interpretation of the advertisement was not at all identical to what the advertiser intended. The advertisement clearly read, "Money returned if not satisfactory." Back came this reply: "Your money is entirely satisfactory. We therefore decline to return it."

Phase Four of the eradication program will go into effect when, for all practical purposes, hog cholera has been completely eliminated. This phase will provide protection against reinfection. Dr. Doby said that the national goal is for all states to enter Phase Four in 1968 and that the United States be certified cholera free by 1972.

Our Pork Barred Dr. Doby said that 11 countries refuse to buy pork from the United States because of the cholera threat. He said that the most recent country to bar importation of American pork is the United Kingdom.

"These countries could be expected to lift their trade barriers when this country is declared cholera free." He said that these 11 countries purchase 60 million pounds of pork valued at more than $15 million from other countries.

Dr. Doby pointed out the progress of the cholera eradication program in Illinois. In 1962, the state had 319 cases of cholera; 184 in 1963; 105 in 1964; and a projection of 50 to 75 in 1965. He hopes the number of cases will be limited to 30 in 1966.

Must Be Vaccinated Legislation enacted in the last two sessions of the Illinois General Assembly tightened the rules concerning the movement of feeder pigs. The legislation, which does not affect the movement of swine to markets for slaughter, provided for licensing of feeder pig dealers and provided that all feeder pigs sold to Illinois farmers be vaccinated for hog cholera.

Phase One of the eradication program involved the organization of a state hog cholera eradication committee plus some county committees' establishment of a system to prompt reporting and complete investigation of all hog cholera outbreaks in the state; and twice-monthly inspection of garbage feeding establishments.

Dr. Doby said that it is hoped that the state will be ready to enter Phase Three in early 1966. This phase is concerned with the prompt elimination of any remaining pockets of hog cholera in the state. Legislation has been introduced in the 1965 session of the state legislature that is designed to implement Phase Three.

Funds For Owner Under provisions of a bill that is now being considered by the legislature, the state department of agriculture would have the authority to go onto farms in the state and destroy any swine that are infected or have been exposed to hog cholera. The bill calls for an appropriation of $200,000 for the purpose of paying indemnities to the owners of the condemned swine. It is anticipated that the federal government will provide an additional $200,000 in matching funds if the proposed bill is passed. The department of agriculture would appraise the value of the condemned swine. The department would pay the owner the market value for those swine that would be destroyed. For those that were exposed but still could be marketed for slaughter the department would make up the difference between the price paid by the packer and the value of healthy hogs of the same weight. Any exposed swine that would be marketed would be handled by the department under strict regulations.

Locate the garden near your home so that you can work in it whenever you have a few free minutes. You will probably also use the vegetables more if they are near your kitchen.

Vandemark recommends including the garden in your landscaping planning. Many gardeners use vegetables in their flower beds. Three or four tomato plants grown on stakes can supply all the tomatoes you need during the season. Asparagus makes an attractive background along a fence. You might also put in a few onion sets and a little lettuce. These bright green vegetables make an attractive showing before flowers come up.

For more gardening tips, Vandemark suggests that you stop in at the county extension office and ask the farm advisor for a copy of University of Illinois Circular 882, "Illinois Vegetable Garden Guide." Circular 884, "Growing Vegetable Transplants," Circular 809, "Tomato Diseases and Insect Pests" and Circular 900, "Insect Control by the Homeowner."

Location Of Family Garden Important

Your success in finding a suitable garden site will determine the quality of your vegetables. Look for a spot that has loose, level, well-drained soil, advises University of Illinois extension horticulturist Joe Vandemark.

A loose, well-drained soil makes it possible to get into your garden earlier in the spring. It also makes weed removal easier all year long. If possible, avoid sites that have heavy clay or very sandy soils, Vandemark suggests.

The garden should have plenty of sunlight. Don't plant near buildings, trees or shrubs that may shade your garden. Trees and shrubs also compete with garden vegetables for plant food and moisture. Especially avoid walnut trees, as their roots produce a toxin that will injure tomatoes. If you have a shady spot in the garden, use it for leafy vegetables.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

SOYBEAN USE UP: EXPORTS DOWN

Farmers have a double interest in the soybean market: They are sellers of soybeans, and buyers of the principal soybean product—soybean meal.

Farmers apparently hold fewer soybeans than they did a year ago, but they are still much interested in soybean prices. For some, this interest is due to speculation in soybean futures.

Some forecasters say that bean prices will rise substantially above the highs of January-February. But about the only certain thing that one can say is that prices will fluctuate. If you must make a decision about buying or selling, perhaps a review of some of the supply and demand statistics will be helpful.

Use up, exports down. Soybean processors used 174 million bushels of soybeans from October 1 to February 1, 12 percent more than last year.

From October 1 to February 19, 85 million bushels were inspected for export, 5 percent less than during the comparable time last year. The dock strike practically stopped exports during January and much of February.

Stocks of meal and oil. The dock strike also halted exports of soybean meal, causing stocks to accumulate at mills. At the beginning of February, processors held 187,000 tons of soybean meal, 23 percent more than last year. The meal on hand represented about 8 million bushels of soybeans, or six days' output.

Stocks of soybeans. According to government figures, soybean stocks on January 1 totaled 525 million bushels, or 6 percent less than last year. All this reduction, and more, too, was in stocks on farms. There were only 191 million bushels, 70 million less than a year earlier. Stocks in other positions (elevators, warehouses, mills, etc.) were 334 million bushels, 37 million more than at the beginning of 1964. On February 1 stocks at soybean mills were 137 million bushels, 46 million more than a year earlier.

Price relations. At this writing soybeans at Chicago are quoted at $3.02 a bushel, 33 cents higher than a year before. At Decatur the oil (about 11 pounds) in a bushel of soybeans is worth $1.32, 45 cents more than a year ago, while the meal (48 pounds) is worth about $1.58, 8 cents less than last year. The combined value of oil and meal is $2.90, or 37 cents more than at the same time last year.

Last year weakness in the soybean meal market undermined the value of soybeans. Some decline in meal prices is possible this year, with the cut in hog feeding. Prices of soybean oil, now 50 percent higher than a year ago, are expected to continue well above those of the first half of 1964.

EXTENSION UNIT AT MURRAYVILLE

MURRAYVILLE—The Home-Makers Extension unit met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert E. Mutch with Mrs. Francis Ring as co-hostess.

The meeting was opened by the chairman, Mrs. Ivan Heaton. The major lesson, "Lip-Gerie," was presented by the home advisor, Miss Frances Webb. The selected subject, "The Art of Conversation," was given by Mrs. Russell Heaton.

Roll call was answered by 13 members and five guests: Miss Frances Webb, Mrs. Russell Osborne, Mrs. Tom Keegan, Mrs. Clarence Rawlings and Mrs. Lindsay.

Craft Day is scheduled March 31 with sessions beginning at 10 a.m. in the Methodist church basement. Members have been asked to bring a sack lunch.

The local unit is helping the Merry Maids 4-H club; each member plans to donate two pies to the club's chili supper and bake sale to be held at the Legion Home Saturday, March 20.

The meeting closed with the song of the month. The hostesses served cookies, coffee and iced tea.

201 BUSHELS EARNED PRIZE

MIDDLETOWN, Ill. (AP)—Producing 202 bushels of corn on an acre of farmland won Roger Oltmanns, Logan County farmer, a $1,000 bonus.

He won a three-state production contest sponsored by a farm supply firm. Oltmanns farms 412 acres.

NFU Opens Meeting In Chicago Today

The 63rd annual convention of the National Farmers Union opens in Chicago, Sunday, March 14, with primary attention focused on the direction to farm family prosperity. Problems of low farm income, rural community development, full employment and world food policy are a few of the problems to be critically appraised.

The 4-day convention, with headquarters at the Sherman House, is expected to attract upward of 3,000 delegates, members and guests. The convention theme is "The Road to Peace and Prosperity."

NFU President James G. Patton will formally address the convention during the Monday evening session. Patton is concluding his 24th year as head of the association which represents over three quarters of a million farm people.

Guest speakers highlighting the sessions include Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey; Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman; Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall; Walter F. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers; and U.S. Senator Walter Mondale (D-Minn.).

Other outstanding guest speakers include Professor John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard economics professor, author, and former Ambassador to India; Gunnar Myrdal, director, Institute for International Economic Studies, Stockholm, Sweden; John A. Baker, assistant secretary of Agriculture; Herschel D. Newsom, Master, National Grange, and Kenneth D. Naden, executive vice president, National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

The Convention also offers an interesting international note. The program features Roger Savary, secretary general of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, Patton, Newsom and Naden head the three U.S. organizations which support IFAP. Albert Salinas Ramos, president, Feder

Japanese Doll Fete

By Jane Suttles

Editor's Note: The following article was contributed by Miss Suttles of the Mak-Well Doll Hospital in Waverly. Although it is too late to have your own doll festival this year you might plan one for next year—or set a date of your own even though it does not correspond to the Japanese date.

SOLEMN CEREMONY

Saturday, March 6th was the end of the Japanese Doll Festival called "Hina-no-Sekku" for another year. No country in the world pays such honour to dolls as Japan.

The Doll Festival begins the third day of the third month and lasts for three days. This Festival is a very solemn and serious thing regulated by ceremony and etiquette. March is the month of cherry blossoms so they are used for decorations. Peach blossoms are also used. In Japan the peach blossom is a symbol of femininity.

Not Played With

The dolls used during the ceremony are not played with; for 11 months they sleep peacefully in the family "go-down," a fire-proof building of brick and iron which the family use to protect their treasures from fire and theft. Some families have curtained shelves where the dolls are only seen on special occasions. The girls have their play-time "doll babies" which they call "ichima ningo."

This is the greatest time of the year for the Japanese girls. During the Doll Festival every girl must be manager and overseer of her doll family. The entire set is representative of a new home with all its gifts. They are cleaned and cared for by the little mistress herself, and she learns how to handle the most delicate china, how to polish lacquer, how to wash a rice kettle and how to care for every household utensil.

Doll Party

The daily food for the tiny dishes is planned and purchased, if not really cooked by her, and she serves it not only to the dolls but dressed in state she serves her father, mother, brothers, and all who come to see the beautiful room, with all the dignity and importance of a genuine hostess.

The girls serve refreshments of rice cakes, sweetmeats and "sake," a thick white sweet drink to the guests. This is also the time for doll visiting with the tiny mothers taking the one she calls on a miniature gift.

Practically every family in Japan has a set of dolls. How plain or elaborate depends on their financial status. A set of ceremonial dolls may consist of a minimum of 15 or may run into hundreds with ministers of state, warlords, geisha girls and entertainers.

RANGER VII'S TARGET

By Walter B. Hendrickson, Jr.

WILLIAMS BAY, Wis.: Ranger 6, the Lunar television probe, crashed into the surface of the moon, somewhere in the circled area, without sending pictures back to earth. Photograph was made at the time of impact by the Yerkes Observatory Feb. 2, 1964.

First Moon Exploration The exploration of the moon started long before NASA began its Ranger moon probe program, of which Ranger VIII is the latest.

In fact, astronomers started making maps of the moon as soon as they all agreed that it was a solid planet. This was not easy to do because the moon does not look like a large globe

The pictures it sent back showed that these rays are actually long lines of miniature craters created by debris thrown out when the larger craters they radiate from were formed. One of the pictures even showed two bits of debris in one of the craters.

When the mapping of the moon was first begun each astronomer used his own naming system for the features which he saw. Then, in 1851, Riccioli, a Jesuit teacher at Bologna, Italy, developed a naming system for the moon, and this system has since been adopted by everybody.

Riccioli named the moon's mountains ranges after the mountain ranges in Europe—the only ones on earth he knew about. For the craters he picked the names of famous people, mostly scientists and philosophers.

Called Plains "Seas"

The plains of the moon are so dark that Riccioli, like most other scientists of his day, thought that they were seas. He named them after the effects which astrologers then thought the moon had on people's temperaments. That is why the flat empty plains have exotic names as Mare Crisium (Latin for "Sea of Crisis") and Mare Tranquillitatis (Latin for "Sea of Tranquility"). Riccioli found that there were more "seas" than astrological terms, so he began using more simple names like Sinus Medii (Latin for "Middle Sea").

As telescopes got bigger and better, more features were discovered and put on the maps. By the time the first moon probes were launched, several craters not much more than a mile across had been seen. Even some separate mountains, like Pico, standing alone on the plains in the Northern part of the Moon, have been mapped.

The close-up pictures taken by Rangers VII and VIII show features as small as ten feet across.

Crumbly charcoal, firm graphite and superhard diamonds are chemically the same substance—almost pure carbon.

All children in grades 4, 5 and 6 at the South Jacksonville School recently each wrote as a language project, an essay entitled "What I Can Do for My Country." Each essay was written in class from notes gathered from various sources. The essays were criticized, rewritten in a final form, and then judged.

The seven best essays were read by the authors on the WLDL School Time Program. The essay judged best was by Ted Gary Smith, a sixth grader from Mrs. Freeman's room.

There was a tie for second place between Gary Russell and Carol Goodrich both in Mrs. White's 5th grade. The four children judged best in their respective rooms are: Katie Sidman, 4th grade in Mrs. Welles' room; Roxanne Gregory fourth grade in Mrs. Moy's room; Jim Bonds fifth grade in Mrs. Long's room, and Diana Chambers 6th grade in Mr. Rowland's room.

What Can I Do For My Country

By Ted Gary Smith

Let's Go Birding

Three Did It

By Emma Mae Leonhard

It took three birders to locate three enormous Bald Eagles on a little lake not too far from Chandlerville on February 20. Can you imagine that?

Three seasoned bird watchers couldn't see the same eagles sitting on the same area of ice. They were good-natured birders and could laugh at themselves after they had discovered the scrambled event.

What had really happened? These three observers had been searching for crossbills in the row of pines where they had seen many White-Winged and Red Crossbills the previous winter. They had drawn a blank: the morning seemed empty of birds, even of Cardinals, nuthatches, juncos, Tree Sparrows, and other common winter birds. Some Black-capped Chickadees did chat with them, but the birders decided to examine other bird habitats.

They agreed to look for ducks but discovered that there was more ice than water. As one member of the party scanned the far side of the lake, he casually remarked, "There's a bird out there that looks like a hawk or eagle. Do you see it?"

A second member gazed in the same general direction and, using his powerful binoculars, announced that it was an eagle. Not to be outdone, the third member found the supposedly same eagle and exclaimed over its beautiful white head and tail.

Birders Puzzled Two of the birders were puzzled, for they hadn't caught sight of the white head and tail, sure marks of a mature Bald Eagle. They, however, politely looked again and wondered; their eagle was a dusky dark bird, undoubtedly an immature one.

Then the courageous one bluntly asked, "Are we looking at the same bird?" He had noticed also that the binoculars of the others did not seem to be focused on the same spot and that the branches of the tree against which they were steadily themselves would surely blot out his eagle.

Look Again When the three birders checked more carefully, they added two Bald Eagles to their original one—further to the left, two closer together on the right. The cooperative venture had treated the three observers to two immature Bald Eagles and an older mature one for their 1965 bird list.

They laughingly agreed that they could miss finding birds—even big birds. And they were happy to see two immatures, some indication that the Bald Eagle was increasing, just as the good news of the big 1964 increase of Whooping Cranes bringing the number of existing

The United States is a great world power. It is a country created "of the people, by the people, and for the people."

Since we the people make up the government, we individuals have certain responsibilities. Young people play an important role in the well being of the country also.

If young people mold a good personality, in later years it could mean the producing of fine statesmen and businessmen, which would insure the safety of the nation and prosper her economically. Parents should encourage young people to learn about their system of government because you can't improve something you don't fully understand.

Seek Race Harmony Children should also be encouraged to get along with and mix with people of other races. A country divided by race discrimination cannot exist in harmony. Children should get all the education which is available to them; this would prosper them and also support everything the United States strives to achieve. Young people should be honest. The United States spends countless dollars on the prevention of crime.

Prevent Waste Children can also prevent the wasting of such things as water and food. If conservation was practiced by the people it would prolong the life of our raw materials and other resources. It was carelessness that killed the Buffalo and chopped down a good portion of the country's trees. Let's not have a thing like that happen again.

Remember, any man who thinks of himself first and his country second cannot call himself an American.

City Dog Pound

By John Rankin

Although they have a dog of their own Eddie's parents take in the little stray pup they find shivering and crying at their door. They even give him a name — Stormy. The next day Eddie's Dad, unable to believe his wife's account of the terrible condition at the Janesville Dog Pound, takes the little fellow there expecting this to be a good place for the owner to find him.

The following day they see an ad in the local paper describing the lost dog, and Eddie recognizes the address as that of a little girl who is crippled or something, goes to a special school and lives with her grandmother. Eddie's Dad goes down to the Janesville Dog Pound to get the dog and take him to the young owner, but he comes back storming mad.

Shocking Story "I found his lifeless and badly mangled body on a pile of debris back of the dump! Dad seethed. "He had been thrown in with a bunch of older and larger dogs where the little fellow never had a chance!"

Mom slapped a hand to her forehead. "Oh! He was such a darling," she gasped. "Will his owner—the little girl... hear of this?"

"I hope not — but the Tribune will," Dad said with vengeance. "And I have the feeling that when this story breaks someone will hang his head in shame!"

It was Saturday morning a week later and Mom was in the kitchen getting breakfast when Dad and Eddie came in. "Can you spare a bite for a couple of drifters," Dad grinned as he pulled up to the table.

Mayor Plans New Pound "I think so, but first read this," she smiled as she handed him the morning Tribune.

"There's a lot in there about the blind since birth... and she'll new dog pound Mayor Hoffman never know the difference."

Hope Beaux Arts Ball Has Record Patron Support

Several hundred invitations have been mailed to friends of the David Strawn Art Gallery to become patrons of this year's Beaux Arts Ball. Any person unintentionally omitted from the list is requested to please contact either co-chairman or a committee member. Mrs. Harry Hofmann, Jr. and Mrs. Claude Davis are co-chairmen for the patron committee.

About two hundred interested persons are volunteering their services in committee work for this year's ball. Recently Mrs. Davis opened her home for a gathering of several committees.

Pearce, Mrs. Robert Freesen and seated, Mrs. Joseph C. Cleeland. Others on the committee include Mrs. Harvey D. Scott and Mrs. Willard Prewitt. Guests enjoyed tea or coffee with hot breads and cakes from an attractive table appointed in pink.

The group to the right, in the living room of the home, includes, center foreground, Mrs. Roy Warner and rear, Mrs. Navalee Eyre and from the left, Mrs. James Flynn, Mrs. Don Pavlick and Mrs. Elmer Lukeman. The latter is historian; Mrs. Pavlick and Mrs. Warner, co-chairmen for the program and Mrs. Flynn, the artist for the program's cover design. Mrs. Eyre is in charge of finance.

At the extreme right at the stairway are, left to right, Mrs. A. W. Applebee, Mrs. Robert Thomson, Mrs. Robert Hemphill and Mrs. Charles Davis. This group, together with its chairman, Mrs. Arthur French, Mrs. Michael Hartong and Mrs. Harry Crabtree, will arrange for the luncheon which will honor all past maids of the Beaux Arts. Mrs. French has been in charge of this luncheon for the past several years.

Housewarming Held For Lyman's Of White Hall

WHITE HALL — Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lyman, who have recently purchased the Dr. Bass residence on North Main street, were pleasantly surprised on Saturday night when a group of their friends called with gifts for a housewarming for their new home.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Vedder Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCollom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Orrill and children, all of White Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Harp, Roodhouse. The evening was spent socially with refreshments served.

RNA Dines

Royal Neighbors of America Camp No. 987 met March 9 with Mrs. Wm. Owens, orator presiding. A pot luck supper will precede the March 23rd meeting. Mrs. Charles DeShazier and Miss Dorothy M. Young will serve on the committee. Entertainment will be provided.

Our Saviour's Alums Change Meeting Time

The Alumnae Association of Our Saviour's Hospital School of Nursing held a dinner meeting March 8th at the Blackhawk. Miss Betty Hall presided for the meeting.

Mrs. Elsie Ring, treasurer, announced there are 42 active and 20 inactive members in the Association. Mrs. Mary Logue, chairman of the bylaws committee, told of changes to be made not as yet complete and another session will be needed to complete action.

Thank you notes from Sisters of Holy Cross were received regarding the Valentine Party sponsored by the Association and were read by secretary Mrs. Billy Pires. It was agreed to change the meeting night from the second Monday of the month to the second Tuesday of each month. The centerpiece at the table, provided by hostesses Mrs. Jerry Vasconcellos and Mrs. Walter Baker, was presented to Mrs. Mary Dalton.

The next meeting will be May 11th with Mrs. Anna Coates and Mrs. Mary Logue hostesses. The location will be announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Louis Cupples

Miss Barbara Jean Bacon of Jacksonville and Dale Louis Cupples of Wilmington were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, February thirteenth at the Salem Lutheran church in this city.

The pastor, Reverend Herbert C. Rose, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bacon of this city and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cupples of Wilmington.

Miss Linda Thompson was maid of honor and Donnie Cupples attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Lloyd Orrick and Michael Gregory.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin. Her veil of illusion fell from a crown headress of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Miss Thompson wore turquoise blue and carried blue and white carnations.

The mother of the bride wore a navy knit suit with white accessories and the groom's mother was in light blue with white accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held at the Moose Hall with the following friends assisting: Sharon Murphy, Janet Cooper, Mrs. Donald Coleman, Patty Surratt and Mrs. James Allen.

Since returning from a short wedding trip to St. Louis the newlyweds are residing at 511 North East street.

The bride graduated from Jacksonville High School and is employed at the Hertzberg New Method Book Bindery. The groom graduated from Wilmington High School and Joliet Junior College and attended Illinois State Normal University, Normal. He is employed at the same company as Mrs. Cupples but will enroll at the University, this fall.

John Pruett Tells Sorority About Camping Life

Initiate Two In Teacher's Sorority

Dorothy Busche and Mildred McKean became members of Alpha Delta Kappa when the Omicron Chapter met at the home of Alvah S. McCarthy, 301 N. Church street March 10.

Chapter president Thelma Willard read the impressive ritual for initiation and the pinning ceremony, other officers assisting, as the pledges stood before a table set with the traditional cornucopia filled with blue iris and golden daffodils, flanked by yellow tapers.

The program was given by Wilbur Stafford of the Jacksonville Police Department and concerned juveniles and other problems of delinquency. He praised the Big Brother and Sister organization for the consideration and help provided youth in the area.

Majel Drake, June Brand, and Margaret Fitzpatrick of the nominating committee will present a new slate of officers for election at the April meeting.

Members were asked to serve at the rummage sale April 3. Assisting hostesses Loretta Seymour and Margaret Fitzpatrick helped Mrs. McCarthy serve delicious refreshments at the close of the evening.

Gun Duel at Tiedown

Jones hardened his heart. "Why don't you tell them the truth," he said, "and confess you knew you was lyin'?"

"I couldn't help it!" he cried. "I had $3,000— and choked over what he'd said. 'Now,' Jones growled, 'we're gettin' down to cases. So you had $3,000 on that race. T. Ed Gretchen, the man who never gambles—' 'What's this?' Grisswell growled, coming up with a lynx-eyed stare from his fight-for-pay killer. Jones looked them over. 'Bein's you asked I don't mind sayin' your buddy, Ed Gretchen here, has just admitted he miscaled that race. Claimed first off it was your horse won. Now it seems he was beat.' 'What are you trying to pull?' the dude cried. 'I ain't tryin' to pull anythin', Mister, an' I don't wanta have to kill someone over it, but until Gretchen's change of heart gets locked into the law's goin' to have to impound all bets.' 'The dude, suddenly uneasy, slanted a look at his fire-power. 'What are you talking about?' 'You,' Jones said, 'and a couple of murders. One Harley Ferguson, fer instance, an' a blackmailin' printer. Put the cuffs on him, Terrazas,' he barked at his deputy, and, swiveling his artillery, brought Sig Raumeller into sharp focus. 'Geetch with a beller that must have reached clean to Tombstone lunged for the dude. Grisswell himself—sold short in Jones' shift to immobilize the greater threat—slammed into the sheriff with a flutery squawk that swept one pistol completely out of his grasp and flung him staggering into his mount. The horse's head went down, his hind legs flew up. The crowd broke apart in 40 directions as Raumeller's guns jumped into his fists. Something plucked at Jones' sleeve, something jerked at his boot. Rolling desperately to get clear of those flying hools he got off two shots and was trying to get up with no idea of their effect when the deafening double blast of the coroner's shotgun whooshed past his face to knock Raumeller sprawling and drive all lesser sounds into oblivion.

Later, with Grisswell safely locked in a cell, Jones sat around with Terrazas and a mellowing Spangler hashing over the fracas. 'Well, I was right after all,' the cowman said with authority—'that slouching past on her old red dang dude did make off with my pony horse.' Jones nodded. 'The idea, of course, was to get all the mileage they could from your rep while fixin' it to seem you was out to bust Grisswell, lookin' fer any excuse you could find. An' them I.O.U.'s, you been passin' around sure made it look like you was scrapin' rock bottom.' 'I was kinda pinched,' the cowman admitted, 'tryin' to hold back enough cash to bet on that race.' 'It was buyin' up Spangler's notes on top of the way he had tailored that race, gettin' handbills printed in advance that finally set me to diggin' around. Then that hullabaloo about his gittin' shot at with everyone knowin' Geetch had that kinda gun.' 'But why?' the coroner growled. 'It was plain he hadn't no use fer Geetch, then I found out what he thought of this town — hated everything about it an' everyone in it. That didn't seem to make much sense till it come over me the town had no time fer him either. He HAD to be first — he couldn't abide to stand in someone else's shadder.' Geetch said, 'What's his girl goin' to do?' 'Understand she's packin. Guess she's goin' back East. She's put the ranch up fer me?'

Geetch had been studying Terrazas in a covert sort of way. Now he said across to him: 'If I was to buy it, would you run the place fer me?'

The sheriff, reckoning this was about as near as the old wolf could come to fiddling round with an olive branch, stepped out on the porch, and just in time as it happened to observe Charlie Mullins slouching past on her old red

Answering his wave she rode over to the steps. Jones said, 'Just as a matter of idle curiosity, which nag you reckon really won that go?' 'Jubal did, by a lip an' two whiskers.' 'I hope,' Jones said, 'you ain't passin' that around.' Charlie Mullins laughed. 'I figure to think about it some. You hear about that hoe-down the folks is gettin' up for Saturday a week? You was to come by an' really put your mind to it I could prob'ly be persuaded.'

In most instances a defender who is kind enough to give declarer a chance to ruff in one hand and discard in the other, is presenting declarer with a trick. Thus, on many hands declarer will strip his opponents of all good leads and then throw one in order to force the ruff and sluff situation.

West's pass of his partner's diamond opening did not do full justice to the weakness of his hand and his later two diamond bid was a real push but it worked out beautifully. Eventually, South was pushed to three spades and if West had followed up his brilliant bid with a brilliant heart lead, his side would have had no trouble collecting five tricks.

However, West opened the deuce of diamonds. South won the trick with dummy's ace, drew three rounds of trumps, led the ten of hearts toward dummy and let it ride to East's queen.

East cashed his king of diamonds and looked for new worlds to conquer. Should his partner hold the queen of clubs, East could play ace and one heart and wait for two club tricks but East saw that he did not need to depend on that and that a repeated ruff and sluff play would beat the contract.

East led a third diamond. South ruffed in dummy and discarded one of his three clubs. A second heart lost to East's ace and East played another diamond. South had to ruff that one in his own hand. Then he cashed the two good hearts but East made the last two tricks with his ace of clubs and last diamond.

WHEN YOU BUILD OR BUY Be wise—insist on a Medallion Home

Even if you had X-ray eyes that could penetrate the walls, you still couldn't tell for sure that the wiring in your new home is everything it should be. That's why you are wise to insist on a Medallion Home. Because electrically speaking, this symbol takes the guesswork out of your investment in a new home.

Good builders proudly display the Medallion. It is a stamp of approval, certifying that the buyer is getting a home that meets the highest standards for modern electric living.

A Medallion Home has been checked by Illinois Power for adequate wiring, heavy-duty circuits, special purpose circuits, general purpose circuits, outlets, light wherever needed, and at least four major electric appliances, including an electric range.

There is a world of fine electric living in your future. In a Medallion Home you will enjoy it to the fullest.

St. Louis Police Department Uses Computers In Fight Against Crime

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The St. Louis police department is armed with a new weapon which it thinks one day may be shooting down more criminals than all the revolvers and riot guns on the force.

It is a computer system that sits in a spotlessly clean, pastel-colored room on the third floor of the sprawling old police headquarters. The machines whir and click as crime information is fed into them. They act as a great, impersonal eye studying the daily crime picture in this city.

The computer system is claimed as another in a long list of firsts by the St. Louis police. They were among the first in the nation to adopt a canine corps, and to use a "decoy squad" of plainclothes men and women who roam the city's high crime areas.

The computers will be an integral part of the St. Louis department's fight against crime. Other police departments are using computers to make out payrolls, keep track of records, and equipment and such chores but none are known to be using them in actual police work.

The St. Louis operation already has been a subject of study by Scotland Yard, the U.S. Secret Service and several city police departments, including Chicago and New Orleans.

The new crime-fighting technique has been in use only since November, but the department says it has already had one immensely successful side benefit: the elimination of some handwritten daily reports by officers. Telephone reports are fed directly to the computer room.

In charge of the computer operation is Scott Hovey, former designer of computer systems for a California firm. He says the possibilities of computer uses in combatting crime are virtually endless.

"Right now we are feeding vast amounts of crime information and statistics into it. Soon it will have on record — and available within seconds to officers — every auto license number in the state."

"Formerly it took six months to draw a patrol plan for the city from manually kept records — and it was obsolete by the time they put it into use. The computer will be able to whip such a plan out in less than a day."

Eventually, this police computer will do away with ponderous record systems. It will be able to furnish criminal information to officers at the scene within seconds.

Hovey gave an example: "Say an officer picks up a suspicious character. He sends in the man's name, physical description and other pertinent information. Within seconds the machine will know whether the man is wanted for anything. Maybe his physical description fits that of a holdup man who had pulled a robbery just a short time ago. This and other information will be available instantly."

"Before it might have taken hours to get the dope and not all of it would have ever been available."

About five minutes before popovers are ready to come out of the oven, insert the point of a sharp knife into the side of each popover to emit steam and to crisp.

POLICE INVESTIGATE THREE ACCIDENTS

escaped injury Friday as city police reported three accidents during the day and evening hours.

One driver was cited by officers in an accident in the 500 block of South Main street about eight o'clock Friday evening.

Police ticketed William Turner, of 612 South West street for failure to yield right-of-way after Turner's car, which was leaving the driveway at the Walker Texaco station struck a southbound car on South Main.

Turner's station wagon struck a car operated by Patricia S. Cowman of rural route one, Alexander.

About three o'clock, officers reported a collision at the intersection of South Main and Morton avenue involving a car and truck.

Police reported that a truck, eastbound on Morton making a left turn onto South Main, driven by Bert F. Floyd of Mercedosa struck a westbound car on Morton operated by Darrell W. Day of 1604 Lakeview.

A parked car at South Clay and Beecher was damaged shortly before noon Friday. Officers noted that a car owned by William D. Hickman of 1033 North Main, properly parked was struck by a northbound car on South Clay operated by Margaret Cook of 606 South Church.

Rural Arenzville
Resident, Dies

VIRGINIA — Eugene Lee Peck, 81, of rural Arenzville passed away at 11:50 p.m. Thursday at Schmitt hospital in Beardstown where he had been a patient for seven weeks.

He was born in Schuyler County May 2, 1883; son of Alfred and Cora Shank Peck.

Surviving is his wife, Mora Turley Peck; two sisters, Mrs. Carlos Campbell of Mt. Sterling and Mrs. Dwight Croxton of La-Prairie and two brothers, Russell of Monroe, Wash. and Tracey of Tonkawa, Okla.

Services are scheduled at the Virginia Methodist church at 2 p.m. Monday. Reverend Rusby Slinkard will officiate and burial will be in Walnut Ridge cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the Massie Funeral Home from 7 until 9 p.m. Sunday.

FIVE UNHURT IN TWO CAR CRASH

Persons in two cars escaped injuries early Friday evening when they were involved in an accident four miles west of Jacksonville on U.S. 36-54.

State troopers reported that a westbound car, driven by Thomas L. Colvin, 18, of route two, Winchester struck the rear of a car operated by Earl F. Badman, 44, of 360 No. Green street, Winchester.

Passengers in the Colvin car, David, 16 and Robert Sanders, 18, were unhurt. David Sanders resides at the Serve-Rite and Robert is from Alsey.

A passenger in the Badman vehicle, Willis McEvers, 31, of Winchester escaped injury.

Investigating officers reported that both cars, westbound were following a truck that was slowing down preparing to stop at a roadside rest area.

Police said that Badman slowed down but Colvin was unable to avoid striking Badman's car. Colvin was cited for following too close.

She was born in Chatham Township Feb. 16, 1902; daughter of James M. and Mary Luella Deever Childers. She and Mr. Flynn were married at Hannibal, Mo. Feb. 14, 1918 and lived in Loami all of their married life.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Irvin Earl Flynn of Pinole, Calif. and Dwayne Flynn of Concord, Calif.; two brothers, Ike Childers of Loami and John Childers of Versailles; four sisters, Mrs. Mae Woods of Virden, Mrs. Margaret Lash and Mrs. Ruth Crawford, both of Franklin and Mrs. Robert Hebblethwaite of Portland, Ore.; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the McCullough Funeral Home at Loami until time of services Sunday.

Hospital Group Has Program For Ashland Women

ASHLAND—Fourteen patients from the Jacksonville State Hospital, known as the Goodwill Ambassadors, presented the program when the Ashland Women's club met March 9 in the library clubroom.

The welfare committee, with Mrs. Carl Orne as leader, was in charge of the program. The Ambassadors, introduced by Mrs. Alta Eisch, director of musical therapy department of the State Hospital, presented many vocal and instrumental selections.

Speech students from the local high school, Janice Thornley, Pam Williams, Wayne Bloomfield and Steve Aggett, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Sue Doolin, gave readings.

Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. Homer Butler and Mrs. Don Gainer, co-chairmen; Mrs. Edgar Thornley, Mrs. David Chatara, Mrs. N. L. Jokisch, Mrs. Grover Lewis, Mrs. L. E. Strubling, Mrs. Emmerson Thornley and Miss Julia Hewitt.

Ashland Notes
Mrs. Thomas McClure and infant daughter have returned to their home here from the Memorial hospital, Springfield.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Flinn Sunday at the Memorial hospital, Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bryant left Monday morning for their home in Ventura, Calif., after spending a week here at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Ruth Bryant. Enroute they stopped off at Minooka, Ill., to visit with Mrs. Bryant's mother, who is very ill. From there they will go to Colorado Springs, Colo., to visit with Mr. Bryant's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Evans, for a few days.

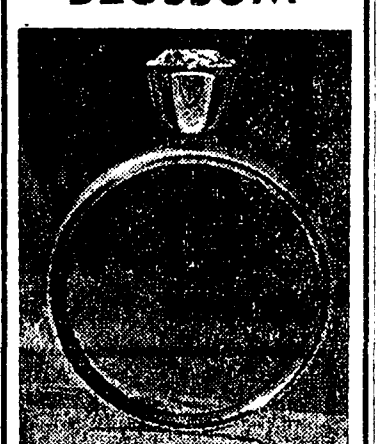

John T. Adkins returned to his home the fore part of the week from St. John's hospital, Springfield, where he underwent a cataract operation on his left eye.

Dorothy Dark, Of Pittsfield Dies Friday

A Message to Our Citizens from Fred C. Gray

Republican Candidate For Mayor

Qualified Through

Experience
Education

It should be one of the most important responsibilities of the mayor to keep every alderman completely informed on all issues which are to appear before the city council for their decision, regardless of differences of opinion.

A non-partisan attitude must be established by an administration if it expects to accomplish its obligation to the community.

Too often, in the past, decisions have been made that had to be later reversed. Aldermen should not be expected to cast a vote without adequate information.

This is a matter of common sense.

Thank you,
Fred

JAMES EDWARDS OF WAVERLY IN FIELD EXERCISES

HOHENFELS, Germany — (AHTNC) — Army Specialist Four James M. Edwards, 21, son of Mrs. Luella Edwards, Route 1, Waverly, participated in a two-week winter field training exercise conducted by the 3d Armored Division near Hohenfels, Germany.

During the maneuvers, which ended March 8, Specialist Edwards received extensive training in weapons firing and small unit tactics.

Edwards, who is a driver in Company B, 2d Battalion of the division's 48th Infantry regularly stationed near Gelnhausen, entered the Army in January 1964, completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and was last stationed at Fort Ord, Calif., before arriving overseas in June 1964. He was graduated in 1962 from Franklin High School.

WHITE HALL CLASS FETES TEACHER ON BIRTHDAY

WHITE HALL — The Loyal Daughters Class of the First Christian Church honored the teacher of their class, Mrs. Anna Overton, on the occasion of her birthday anniversary.

Guests were members of the Loyal Women's class, Mrs. Ernest Roodhouse, Mrs. Otto Lyman, Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Hall and two children, and Mrs. Nina Williams of East St. Louis.

Mrs. F. N. McLaren offered grace before the dinner and Mrs. James Jolley was in charge of the business meeting held after the dinner. Mrs. Royal Frazier and Mrs. Leonard Whitney were hostesses.

Piano music was played by Mrs. E. S. Ambrose during the dinner hour.

A Bible quiz was conducted by Mrs. Overton and Mrs. Ernest Roodhouse gave the devotions, "Wide Walls."

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Mrs. Overton, Mrs. John Rochester and Miss Dorothy M. Young. A grocery shower was held for Mrs. Overton who bakes for the public.

A bake sale will be held in the near future and a covered dish luncheon will be held Wednesday, April 14 at the home of Miss Ethel Culbertson.

GRIMSONS IN 'SWEET SIXTEEN'

Win 1st Sectional Crown Since 1953 With 68-45 Victory

By BUFORD GREEN
Journal Courier Sports Editor

Jacksonville earned its first trip to the Illinois State High School basketball tournament in 12 years here Friday night, roaring on from a tight first half to storm to an impressive 68-45 sectional championship victory over the game Lincolnwood Lancers.

The Crimsons now meet Quincy High in the Macomb super-sectional Tuesday night in a first-round game for the right to advance to the 'Elite Eight' in Champaign next weekend.

The last time a team from Jacksonville High made the 'Sweet Sixteen' with a sectional victory was in 1953.

The second half was the entire story Friday night, as the Crimsons came from a narrow 24-23 halftime spread to outscore the tiring Lancers 44-22 in the final two quarters to win going away.

Heroes were many for the winning Crimsons who now take a 25-4 record to Macomb.

Dean Hess broke the Lincolnwood defense at several points, all-star Creston Whitaker ripped in 19 points despite a slow first half, Steve Bone controlled the boards and threw in 14 points, Dennis Sergeant came off the bench again to spark the winning surge and Ron Coleman added 11 and did an outstanding job off the boards.

Lincolnwood's tight man-to-man defense all but stymied the JHS offense in the first half and had the Crimsons down by small margins at several points.

After hitting only 34.6 percent of the first half, Jacksonville burned the nets at a blazing 66 percent. The Crimsons never found the bucket big enough in the first half, but it seemed they could do no wrong in the second 16 minutes.

After busting from the tight first-half advantage, Jacksonville came out hot in the second frame, mainly on the clutch buckets by sparkplug Hess who played one of his better games of the season and one of the best by any Crimson players during the campaign.

Once Jacksonville got the upper hand there was no stopping the Crimson express.

They outscored Lincolnwood in the third quarter by 11 points and by 11 points more in the final eight minutes.

The four Crimson starters in double figures provided the winners with another balanced scoring attack, a Jacksonville trademark of late.

While Jacksonville picked up on their shooting considerably in the second half, Lincolnwood fell off considerably from their first half rate, connecting on only six of 28 tries from the field for an ice-cold 21 percent clip, as the Jacksonville defense stiffened.

The Crimsons closed out their sectional triumph in grand style, by pouring in 13 of the final 15 points and holding the Lancers without a field goal for the closing five minutes.

After Jacksonville took command in the decisive third stanza, Lincolnwood was never able to get closer than ten after that, midway in the fourth frame.

The third-quarter bulge by Jacksonville forced Lincolnwood to play catch-up ball and the Crimsons roared their superiority.

Coleman held Lincolnwood ace Rusty Bergman, honorable mention all-state, to only one field goal in the second half. In turn the Lancers' Pete Polston put the damper on Whitaker in the first half and for most of the third quarter.

Entering the final eight minutes Whitaker had managed only three of 14 shots from the floor. The six-foot all-star threw in ten of his 19 in the closing quarter.

Coleman hit four of 11 chances from the outside and led the team with 11 of their 33 rebounds. Bone hauled down nine retrieves off the boards and canned a hot five of seven tries from the field.

Hess hit five of his ten shots from the floor, but three straight were in the decisive third quarter to break the Lancers' defense. Whitaker ended up with six of 16 tries and five rebounds.

Lincolnwood gave Jacksonville as much trouble as any team all year in the first half. The hustling Lancers stayed airtight on defense and picked their spots efficiently on offense.

Little Steve Gerlach hit his first shot, from 25 feet, then swiped the ball for an easy lay-up two points a few seconds later for a 4-0 Lincolnwood edge with 6:44 remaining in the opening eight minutes.

The best Jacksonville could manage in the early going was three free tosses. Lincolnwood led 6-3 before JHS got their first field goal, by Hess from 15 feet, with just over four minutes played.

Game Gets Closer

Whitaker soon followed with a driving two points in the next 20 seconds as Jacksonville trailed 8-7. Hess soon canned another from the side to tie the game at 9-9, then Coleman matched a tip by Johnson for another tie at 11-11 to close the chapter.

The sticky Lincolnwood defense continued to match that of the Crimsons, and neither club showed much in the way of scoring. The game was tied at 13-13, but Lincolnwood threw a giant scare into the overflow JHS Bowl crowd with six straight points and 17-13 edge with 5:40 to play in the half. The six came as Bergman canned three in a row, two from 20 feet and one from 15 feet.

Jacksonville soon regained their footing, getting five points in seven seconds. After Whitaker hit the first of a one-and-one Bone got the top on the second and returned it for two points with 3:43 left in the half. The Crimsons threw on their full-court press for the first time in the game on the following throw in, and Whitaker pilfered the ball for two more quick points and a 20-17 margin.

Lancers Strike Back

Still refusing to fold, Lincolnwood's Bill Arter took over with an easy basket through the JHS press, and added two free tosses within three seconds and the Lancers regained the lead at 21-20.

The lead changed hands three more times in the remaining 1:44 of the half, the final time when Bone canned a 15-foot turn around jumper with a minute left for a slim 24-23 halftime difference.

Arter had nine at half and Bergman seven, while Whitaker had collected eight in the half.

Crimsons Make Hay

Jacksonville began to make hay in the second half to make time Bone hit a left-handed lay-up and Coleman a turnaround shot from the top of the key for a 28-23 bulge, the biggest of the game.

After Terry Brockmeyer canned a charity toss and a free toss to bring it within two, 28-26, Jacksonville busted the game wide open.

Hess started his blazing firing from the outside with a 25-footer with 5:53 left in the quarter. Coleman added two quick from the charity stripe and Hess hit another from the same spot for a 34-26 margin in less than a minute.

The lead grew to nine on a Coleman jumper from the corner. Lincolnwood got within seven on three points by Greg Neumabor with 1:58 to play in the canto, but Jacksonville again spurred.

Hess added his third basket in the frame from 20 feet, and Whitaker hit a charity toss for a 42-30 bulge to enter the final eight minutes.

Whitaker began a hot ten-point fourth period with six quick points for a 17-point margin at 49-32 and 6:00 left in the championship tilt.

The only serious Lincolnwood threat after that was after six quick points that cut the lead to 49-39 and against at 53-43 with 3:26 left.

From there it was no contest. Thirteen of the final 15 points came at the Jacksonville end, including nine straight free tosses, four by Sergeant and four points by Whitaker.

Sergeant and Hess nullified the Lincolnwood press in the closing minutes and it provided no threat.

Quincy's Runde Erases Memory Of His Cousin

QUINCY — "There'll never be another Runde," Quincy college basketball fans were saying when Gene Runde, a flashy little guard from Teutopolis completed his Hawk career in 1963. Gene, who later coached Notre Dame High of Quincy (now Christian Brothers) to fourth place in the state, held every Q. C. scoring record and still ranks third in team point production for a career.

There is another Runde, however, and he has come on fast to take his place among the Hawks' outstanding point producers. Gene's cousin, John, who also hails from Teutopolis, tossed in an even 500 points this season to lead the college to a 15-13 record. He's only a junior and will be one of the big men (6-5) around whom coach John Ortwerth will build next year's unit. Runde was named to the first five of the N.A.I.A. Dist. 20 (Illinois) all-stars, along with Hawk senior Forward Sam Stampley of Alton and junior Guard Armon Evans of St. Louis (DeAndries).

Tribute To Schedule

The Hawks feel that landing three men on the all-stars, despite a so-so record, is a tribute to their rugged schedule. "It's been my best team in five years as coach—yet we didn't make the N.A.I.A. play-offs," commented Ortwerth.

Q. C. foes are prominent in various post-season tournaments with Steubenville (20-3) and Washington of St. Louis (20-5) in the N.C.A.A., Oklahoma Baptist (22-6), St. Benedict's (23-2) and Lewis (19-5) in the N.A.I.A. tourney at Kansas City, St. Bonaventure (15-7) was in the running for an N.I.T. bid until the Bonnies dropped their final game of the season.

Quincy, with its highest scoring team ever, averaged 83.4 points per game. The Hawks gave up an average of 79.2, however.

Runde's average was 17.9 as he averaged better than 22 per game in the last eight outings.

Schellhase Top Scorer In Big 10

CHICAGO (AP) — The statistical smoke cleared Friday from the recently-ended Big Ten basketball warfare and disclosed seven new team, league and individual marks.

A final official recap certified Purdue's Dave Schellhase as scoring champion with a 14-game average of 27.9, making him the only Boilermaker besides Terry Dischinger (1962) ever to win the title.

Nationally top-ranked Michigan, the powerful conference champion, accounted for one of three team records with a 14-game average of 92.9 points.

Illinois, with 92.4, also topped the former Big Ten team scoring record of 92.1 by Michigan State in 1964.

Indiana came up with a new free throw accuracy record with a .781 percentage on 271 of 347 shots. The Hoosiers hit .765 for a record in 1963 and in 1964 was tops with .758.

The third new team mark, most field goals in one season, was set by Illinois with 534, breaking Ohio State's record of 523 in 1960.

Two new league records were achieved — most points scored and most field goals in a single season.

In 70 conference games, the Big Ten this season piled up 11,875 points, an 84.8 per game average by each team. The old record was 11,749 points, averaging 83.9, in 1964.

The league field goals made average was 66.5, breaking the former mark of 66.1 set in 1964. In individual play, Indiana's Jon Mc Glocklin broke one of the oldest league records—free throw average. The Hoosier star hit 36 of 39 gift shots for a .923 percentage. The old record was

.920 by Indiana's Sam Gee on 46 of 50 in the 1958 season.

Schellhase, a junior, also led in field goals tried, 319; free throws tried, 148; and free throws made, 117.

Skip Thoren of Illinois captured two titles, rebounds with 14.4 per game and field goal average, shooting .575. Minnesota's Lou Hudson had most field goals, 139.

Although Schellhase's winning average of 27.9 was well below the league record of 33.9 in 1964 by Ohio State's Gary Bradds, for the first time in Big Ten history 11 players averaged better than 20.

Marshall Clips DuSable, 69-55, For City Title

CHICAGO (AP) — Marshall, winner of the state high school title in 1958 and 1960, Friday defeated Du Sable, 69-55, to gain next Tuesday's first-round final of the 1965 state tourney.

In capturing the Chicago public school league title, Marshall plays the St. Patrick-New Trier winner in Friday night's sectional final at Arlington Heights.

Marshall, first Chicago team to win the state crown in 1958, led at halftime, 32-28, and stayed in front the rest of the way.

Sam Gower of Du Sable led both teams with 24 points. Leading Marshall's Commandos were Manny Byrd with 19 and Dick Bradshaw with 15.

Tiger Gets Shot At Title Fight With Knock Out

NEW YORK (AP) — Nigeria's Dick Tiger virtually clinched a title fight with midweight champion Joey Giardello by stopping roly poly Rocky Rivero of Argentina in 1:39 of the sixth round of a 10-rounder Friday night.

Tiger, the No. 2 contender appearing in his first fight since last Oct. 16, had won every round and was far in front in the sixth when he dropped the South American with a fierce barrage of blows.

When he staggered to his feet, referee Pety Della immediately halted the bout, much to the satisfaction of the crowd of about 6,000 at Madison Square Garden.

Tiger, at 165 pounds to Rivero's 169.4, was the 5-1 favorite.

HUMES AND SLOAN TOP TOURNEY TEAM

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Little All — Americas Larry Humes and Jerry Sloan of championship Evansville topped the all-tournament team of the NCAA College Basketball meet Friday night.

They were unanimous choices of writers and commentators who voted. Sloan was named the most valuable player of the tournament for the second straight year.

Johansson Not Planning Return

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Ingemar Johansson, former heavyweight champion of the world, said Friday he has no intention of returning to the ring.

Johansson, on a tour of fight camps in the United States, watched Cassius Clay, the current titleholder, go through three brief rounds of shadow boxing and rope skipping at the Fifth Street Gym.

Clay, now in preliminary training for his return fight with Sonny Liston in Boston in May, chatted briefly with the Swede, and told Johansson:

"You can fight me and we'll draw 20 million dollars. That ought to make you twice as rich as you are now."

Johansson smiled and shook his head.

"I do not plan to return to the ring," he said.

"Do you have any urge, any desire to fight again?" he was asked.

"No, none at all," he replied. Johansson's tax problem with U.S. authorities is still in litigation and he said he did not expect it to be settled for two years.

He said he will visit Liston at his training camp and will interview other fighters in New York, Denver, San Francisco and other American cities for a Swedish magazine.

Johansson Not Planning Return

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Ingemar Johansson, former heavyweight champion of the world, said Friday he has no intention of returning to the ring.

Johansson, on a tour of fight camps in the United States, watched Cassius Clay, the current titleholder, go through three brief rounds of shadow boxing and rope skipping at the Fifth Street Gym.

Clay, now in preliminary training for his return fight with Sonny Liston in Boston in May, chatted briefly with the Swede, and told Johansson:

"You can fight me and we'll draw 20 million dollars. That ought to make you twice as rich as you are now."

Johansson smiled and shook his head.

"I do not plan to return to the ring," he said.

"Do you have any urge, any desire to fight again?" he was asked.

"No, none at all," he replied. Johansson's tax problem with U.S. authorities is still in litigation and he said he did not expect it to be settled for two years.

He said he will visit Liston at his training camp and will interview other fighters in New York, Denver, San Francisco and other American cities for a Swedish magazine.

Steve Bone and Creston Whitaker receive congratulations from many of the overflow crowd following the Crimson's Sectional victory Friday night at the Bowl.

Lincolnwood's Lynn Johnson is surrounded by three Crimsons, Steve Bone, Ron Coleman and Dennis Wegehoff. Dean Hess stands to the left. Hess sparked the Crimsons to their Sectional triumph with a blazing shooting and ball-handling exhibition.

AWAY WE GO—Minnesota Twins southpaw Jim Kaat has his own methods of working out. They're pretty good, too. He was 17-11 last year.

"INDISPENSABLE MAN"—Baltimore manager Hank Bauer, a former Yankee, calls New York catcher Elston Howard the key to the Bomber pennant hopes. And Howard, at 35, doesn't show any sign of letting up.

MILWAUKEE B TEAM BLANKS MISSISSIPPI

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Rookie Pat House and Jim Britton each pitched three perfect innings Friday as the Milwaukee Braves B team blanked Mississippi State University 3-0.

The collegians got all three of their hits off rookie Gene Garrell in the first three innings. Two of them were infield scratches by Del Unser, son of Al Unser, a former major league catcher now a Braves scout. Their last 17 batters went out in order.

Bobby Bragan Jr., son of the Braves manager, played third base for Mississippi State and went hitless, but made a fine play in the field.

CADETS MADE $900 BY SELLING EXAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two chief members of an Air Force Academy cheating ring made a profit of about $900 in selling examinations to other cadets, the Air Force has told Congress.

The Air Force made public Friday a four-page summary of its investigation of cheating at the academy at Colorado Springs, Colo. The summary previously had been sent to the Senate Armed Services Committee and congressional members of the academy's Board of Visitors.

The congressmen were advised that 105 cadets admitted involvement in the cheating and that 14 were cleared in the probe that extended from Jan. 18 to Feb. 2.

The 105 offered their resignations and Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert still is reviewing each case.

The summary said the scandal involved stealing examinations, selling examinations, buying examinations and obtaining information from cadets who had previously undertaken the same examination in their cases.

The report said two cadets were the principal figures in activities which expanded from a small beginning and led to a series of examinations being stolen in early December last year.

3rd Period Turning Point In Contest

By BUFORD GREEN

A great team effort sparked by outstanding hustle especially in the second half, was the way Jacksonville coach Rich Jones commented on his Crimsons' 68-45 Sectional championship victory and right to advance to the state tournament.

"We stood around too much the first half, but took the pressure in stride. The turning point came in the third quarter with our press, as we forced them outside and forced them into mistakes," surmised Jones.

Losing coach Norm Keefner pointed to a season-long nemesis, trouble in the third quarter. "We took the same shots but they just didn't go in," said Keefner.

"We didn't think the Jacksonville press actually hurt us, but their defense was outstanding. Their defense was one of the best we have seen all year."

"Hess broke out back. When we got down we panicked and got worse as we went along," concluded Keefner, who saw his Lancers turn in an outstanding 26-3 record this year, with two losses coming at the JHS Bowl.

One of their other defeats was a narrow 50-49 loss to Hannibal, Mo. in the JHS four-team tournament in January.

Lincolnwood consolidated only three years ago, and this was the best record there and for Keefner's coaching year.

Jones admitted that Lincolnwood's Pete Polston did a good defensive on JHS ace Creston Whitaker, but made it clear that at the same time he felt Ron Coleman did an outstanding defensive job on Lancer star Rusty Bergman the second half. Bergman managed only one bucket in the second half.

No Defensive Adjustments

"Polston did a good job, but Whitaker was forcing a lot of his shots in the first half," said Jones. "We just played our regular defense with no adjustments, but I felt they didn't turn their offensive patterns the second half. We forced them outside and I think that was probably our best move."

Also pleased with the JHS rebounding, Jones commented that Jacksonville got good position under the boards, mainly due again to their defense keeping Lincolnwood outside.

Jones was full of praise for all the Crimsons, but stressed again that his team had proven all year that they were not a one or two-man team.

"Hess played a great game, no doubt about that. I also felt Sergeant came off the bench again and did a tremendous job. Teams have found they if they sacrifice too much to stop one of two of our players we have three or four more who can beat them."

Bergman Good Player

"I don't want to take anything away from the Crimsons, but I also felt Sergeant came off the bench again and did a tremendous job. Teams have found they if they sacrifice too much to stop one of two of our players we have three or four more who can beat them."

"The only thing Jacksonville did different from what we expected was to play Whitaker underneath more, but Polston still did a good job."

way, with the score deadlocked seven times in the first half and the same number in the second before regulation time ran out. Only once, however, did the Southern Salukis, who fouled out with a 20-8 record, take the lead in the first half.

Sloan got 14 of his total points in the first half and Humes bagged 12.

Sixth-ranked North Dakota won third place by defeating St. Michael's of Vermont 94-86 in the first game.

Monmouth 78, Grinnell 67

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP) — Monmouth College stormed to a 47-29 halftime lead and went on to score a 78-67 victory over Grinnell in a Midwest College Conference basketball game Friday night.

The result left both teams with 12 records. Chuck Anderson led Monmouth with 22 points and Jeff Frantz of Grinnell scored 23.

Australia's highest point is Mount Kosciuszko, in New South Wales, with an elevation of 7,777 feet.

In overtime, Sam Watkins and Humes scored two quick baskets to put the Aces in front to stay 78-74. The closest Southern came after that was by 1 point, 83-82, but then Jerry Sloan poked in two free throws as the game ended.

Evansville's two Little All-Americans, Humes and Sloan, scored 32 and 25 points respectively while Watkins added 13. Joe Ramsey topped Southern with 24 while George McNeil made 22 and Walt Frazier 16. Sloan retrieved 25 rebounds.

Evansville made good on 29 of 58 field goal attempts, and Southern hit on 36 of 73. In rebounding, the Aces were on top 50 to 24.

Evansville Keeps NCAA Crown, 85-82

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — The top-ranked Evansville Aces retained their NCAA College Division basketball championship Friday night and wound up with a season mark of 29-0 by defeating Southern Illinois, number three, 85-82 in overtime.

The Aces, who had defeated Southern twice by one point in earlier games this season, collected an unprecedented fourth championship before a screaming record crowd of 12,797 in Roberts Stadium.

The three-day finals drew a tournament high of 36,004 compared to the old mark set last year of 31,915.

The Aces, who also won in 1959 and 1960, led 39-35 at halftime but Southern captured the lead in the opening four minutes of the last half and held onto it until 4:27 was left. Twice in this time they had 8-point edges at 65-57 and 67-59.

Larry Humes made a basket and a free throw that put the Aces ahead 68-67. From then on, Southern tied the score four times and the Aces controlled the lead twice before regulation ran out with the score knotted 74-74.

In overtime, Sam Watkins and Humes scored two quick baskets to put the Aces in front to stay 78-74. The closest Southern came after that was by 1 point, 83-82, but then Jerry Sloan poked in two free throws as the game ended.

Evansville's two Little All-Americans, Humes and Sloan, scored 32 and 25 points respectively while Watkins added 13. Joe Ramsey topped Southern with 24 while George McNeil made 22 and Walt Frazier 16. Sloan retrieved 25 rebounds.
